Thread: How to deal with being made infamous by malicious actors?

Ok this could apply to a lot of day to day life situations both online and IRL, and basically it's one person who is vindictive and hellbent on revenge where they will slander you to multiple people and even strangers, and share all information about you and private and personal sensitive information, develop a profile of you to people and friend groups through social engineering and then you're literally infamous overtime, and harassment starts, and people who you don't even know or ever even met just hate your ass and know you on a personal level when you have never even met or talked to any of them, and you originally only had beef with that one singular person.

Anyone dealt with situations like this before?

Also applies to co-workers and workforce places also, where you have beef with one or two people, and they start slandering and gossip about you to their circles and their friends and everyone they know and meet.

Is this a problem you have had? It sounds like you got doxxed and your information was published.

Low hanging fruit - Change your phone number, get an new email, report physical hate mail to the police. Delete or Make your social media private.

Countermeasures - Make a bunch of fake profiles on different sites using your old information. Use information from fakenamgenerator except for the a piece of contact information. Try to find where your info is being leaked and handle that.

Thread I made on apple forum, I called myself "low hanging fruit".

Is this enough proof for anyone?

Literally being followed and harassed by a group of hackers/trolls/people online.

It does not matter if I use a social media account or not, they are livestreaming and watching my PC. No one has managed to find the malware, please.

Seems like you've been stuck in some paranoid psychosis if you are saying More is one of your stalkers because he used 'low hanging fruit'. I'd believe that he got that answer from chatgpt, which got its answer from that forum.

Anyways, rest assured most people don't give a shit about you. I, and most people here, will suggest you go get some psychiatric help. It's easy to get stuck in the loop of thinking everyone is talking shit about you.

Unless you are a lolcow. Do your stalkers call you a lolcow? If so, good luck buddy.

Too obvious now.

Just incase the piece of shit screenshotted my Twitter messages to her DMs about me making her popular and saying profanity shits, you got to realize it was retaliation to her making me popular beforehand, she contacted PSZ and all those other people behind my back from the game to stalk me since before 2020, all I got is verbal attacks, while she completely violates my PC space since 2017.

It's really is crazy how I am in the wrong here when all I've done was verbal attacks, and they act like that is the most heinous crimes alive, what she's doing is 500x worse. It is completely unjust and unfair. People just love to assume and jump to stories it's crazy, and because apparently she's a woman she gets all the support, this is literally johnny depp amber heard dejavue, and no one seemed to have learned anything at all.

Soooo... are you a lolcow?

PSZ? All that came was some roblox pet simulator game?

You are being harrassed on a childrens game after verbally abusing someone? Sounds like you deserve whatever it is you got. If they got you with a rat that no one can detect.... Well you shouldn't have tried to download free robux.

Whats your username, I think I found your computer livestream.

Regulus - April 17, 2025, 2:24 pm

Confront " that one singular person" you have had a beef with then I guess.

Herbert - April 17, 2025, 2:26 pm

I agree with plops - I do sincerely hope you take his advice and get it checked out with a professional before it gets any worse.

You don't think I've done that already? many times? That person is extremely evil and a complete psycho, confronting does absolutely nothing except for being psychologically tortured and toyed with since it's online, gets blocked, played pretend, all kinds of mental torture I dealt with since 2021 when I did it.

What then? Yeah sure I deserved it coming to me, but so you know that doesn't make the other party good either, they're infact worse, way worse. They're clustered B psychopathic people.

For the record: Low hanging fruit is an idiom; it means the easy to accomplish tasks without worrying about the things you might have to strain for

How are they They're clustered B psychopathic people.? Can you give us some examples? What did they do? When did all this start?

Was it back in 2020? What did they do to you ? what did you do back to them? Is it just this girl? or is it dudes too?
