Looking for someone who could share some knowledge to me about posting and earning money on youtube and tiktok. I know clipping is a pretty good method to earn on these platforms but i would greatly appreciate any help or insight how to get started or what path to follow that will be well worth my time, Please PM me if you can extend a helping hand and help me figure this out.. I really need to start earning right now times are really tough right now and im willing to do anything

Not to ruin things for you, but "right now" money from social media in general is quite difficult. It could take years to build and start earning a livable income.

TikTok, IMHO, would be your best option. Given the right niche and consistency, you could earn a decent income in under a year. Perhaps not livable, but you'll be earning something. The TikTok Creator Rewards Program is what you would want to eventually be a part of.

I'd recommend starting right now. TikTok's algorithm is stronger than any other social media platform, and their pay is better too.

Just focus on grabbing attention at first, make good content, once you build your own audience, you won't have to worry much about money.

but there are too many people with kids making videos and earn a lot of money on Youtube. How do they do that though?

I mean parents with their kids making videos and they get a lot of views. They move to their newly bought house, buying nice cars, etc....

Clipping is easy, just create an account and use AI tools to crop the moments you want to clip. It's really simple :)
