Thread: Dedicated AI Discussion Section

Hi,

I'd like to suggest adding a new section to the forum where people can talk about topics related to AI. With more and more interest in language models, image generators, and all sorts of new tools, I think having a place just for these conversations would be helpful and keep things organized.

It could also bring in more people who enjoy discussing these sorts of topics.

What do you guys think?

Idea to get started with

Artificial Intelligence

General Discussion

For news, questions, and chat about AI tools and trends.

Tips & Help

For sharing advice, guides, troubleshooting, and recommendations.

Showcase

For sharing interesting AI outputs or personal projects.

DUDE YES

I'd love to see an AI section. Vibe coding could be a section

Dark AI seems a little limiting.

HF post activity is low. People just don't create content anymore. Most activity in Convo and Marketplace. I could probably delete 90% of the forum categories and no one would care. Hardly a blip when I did consolidate it last time. In the 1 year Dark AI has been a category, only 320 threads. Basically one per day.

We don't need more forum categories.

Massive difference from wanting sections on HF with threads you wish you can read and a bunch of empty forum sections which nobody is creating threads into.

Fkn is on HF for 13 years and has created 15 threads. You gotta be fucking kidding me with this suggestion. When you're making 30 threads a month come back and LMK.
