Hello there HackForums!

I'm Hotrailius Maximus and I'm excited to be a member of this community of passionate hackers and tech enthusiasts! I've always been intrigued by all things hacking, pentesting, and breaking things (within the law and in an ethical manner, naturally ????).

I'm pleased to be CompTIA Network+ and CompTIA Security+ certified, which has given me a solid foundation in networking and security concepts. But my hunger for knowledge never gets filled - I'm always on the prowl for new challenges and ways of expanding my skillset.

Playing around with my Flipper Zero device and experimenting with the Wifi Developer Board is one of my favorite activities. Installing third-party firmware like Wifi Marauder is only the start - I love to dig into the enormous potential these devices hold!

Being an open mind and a hungry learner, I'm excited to share in the camaraderie of fellow travelers here on this site. I'm here to learn as much as I can, work on projects, and hopefully even share some of my own experiences and findings along the way.

Thanks for inviting me!

Looking forward to becoming a regular contributor to the HackForums community and helping to advance the hacking subculture in any way that I can!

Best regards,

Hotrailius Maximus

I'm sure you'll be fine. As a professional myself, focus on what you're doing, not what others are doing. We don't know what journeys others have taken. But we know what we have done, what we can do.

Try your best to remember how far you've come. Nothing can invalidate that hard work.

Welcome to the Foums Hotrailius Maximus!

Always nice to see a new face around here, and even better to see that you didn't waste any time in upgrading your account. You're off to a great start. You'll find a lot of like minded individuals on here, that share the same interests as you. Hopefully you'll be able to gain some knowledge, while also sharing some of the things you've learned along the way.

See you around.
