Hey, im interested in getting the YT Premium, but your site says $40, not $21.99 for 12M.

MOE - May 7, 2025, 7:31 pm

None of your prices match the website at all I checked every single one, but nice marketing scheme I guess. Better luck next time!

Hello, go through my contract on HF, not my site. I inflate prices on my site because I advertise through instagram netflix is an annual subscription single profile account, so no not personal upgrade unfortunately.

Create a contract on HF, the site prices are inflated for a different demographic. Ill probably remove the site for the confusion.

Is the Spotify premium on a family upgrade or through my own personal account?

It's on your own personal account so no drops.

I have over 200+ vouches on Discord and over 700+ on my website that I can send in a private PM. I'm also fine with giving out one or two Spotify monthly vouch copies.

Is the youtube family plan in the USA region?

The Youtube Family plan is unfortunately in a different region outside the USA, making it so cheap. The region shouldn't accept your Google profile unless you are actively using a payment method on your Google accounts.

I figured. Sadly Google locks you into the app store region of your family plan. So a lot of US apps become unavailable if using an android phone. :(

Would work great for a non main account or if using an iPhone. Sadly that's not me.

Thanks! And good luck with sales.

Yes sorry for the inconvenience, what one of my customers do is they create a separate Youtube account for their premium.

I can do either

If were purchasing this to add to an existing account, how would this work for apple music or amazon prime? Is it a code you give us, to apply ourselves on the account?

For apple music and amazon prime I'd recommend receiving an account from me. But if you'd like an upgrade on your account I'd need access to your iCloud

I have not gotten a response from Telly. I bought 1 year of Spotify premium family for $36 and it has expired after only two months. Looks like Telly's Telegram has been suspended/deleted. I have reached out via discord to also resolve but am waiting for a response.

I will update this when resolved.

UPDATE: He has fully fixed the spotify family for me on the same day I made this post. Everything is working as expected!
