Are you able to respond to PMs with your post count? We can communicate back & forth here if not. Or you can start a contract to get started

It's a loop using a few online platforms, and then double-dipping those profits to make it even faster and easier.

Sorry to hear about the experience.

Just for clarification, you didn't use a contract for the purchase? And why did you feel it wasn't worth it? Not really possible to mark $20-50 a day with it? Or it's just not worth the amount of time/effort required to make the money?

Bought with bytes so I guess didn't feel the need for contract.

This method only being $25 is more than worth it. It is a loopable method that you could net more than just $20-$50/day. Results can come in within the first week. There's really not a ton of work to be done here once you started maybe a few things as far as posting on forums and pushing it out to other people to help speed the process up but 100% worth it for only $25.
