Wispr - May 15, 2025, 1:38 pm

I thought HF might find this useful since everyone has been using prompts to uncensor and unrestricted their favorite AI.

Here is a list of about 10-15 different AI models that you can ask whatever you want. For free. No more need for prompts. You're welcome.

And how will you uncensor the model? finetune? mess with the floats? It's a hassle especially if you don't have the rig for it.

The only two I knew before this thread were Grok and Venice AI.

But people have been complaining about Grok no longer allowing sexy art and putting time limits on people if they are on the free version.

The Pact - December 10, 2025, 11:30 pm

I'm going to bump this thread because it's been hard to find and it deserves a bump.

I found out that Limitless AI Chat is part of "Limitless", a startup originally known as Rewind, which built AI-powered wearable devices and software for recording and summarizing conversations. In December 2025, Meta acquired Limitless, integrating its technology into Meta's push for AI-enabled wearables and personal superintelligence.

There are some Privacy Concerns with this one. Recording conversations raised questions about consent and surveillance. but Limitless as a standalone brand is effectively ending—its technology is being absorbed into Meta's broader AI vision.

Try asking Venice AI or Grok about piracy websites. They will give you a little speech about how they cannot discuss such things. Uncensored my ass. ?

Grok also originally refused to discuss MAIN STREAM movies and TV shows set in strip clubs and brothels but when I pushed back it came through and was quite useful.

You mean Venice AI? It will talk about sex issues and sexual health where other LLMs may refuse but it won't discuss even slightly illegal things like piracy.

I know Omni is morally opposed to piracy and I'm an author and people steal my books. But I have situations where I'm asked to teach analysis of a specific film another teacher assigned and I can't get every streaming service. But anyway uncensored Venice AI won't discuss it. ?

No i meant in general, isn't there a solid free, or even paid reasonably priced option?

from what i remember uncensored is 100$ - and other for one time fee 400-500$

I ain't investing that in something that i am not even sure is working

LOL that's very funny. It's copyright by the way. Omni hates piracy just so everyone knows. I just thought it was funny that if you don't word it as above then all the "uncensored AIs" will refuse to discuss it at all.

Hey good catch!

Thank you for the spelling correction; it's important to correct people when they're wrong. Here's a different example (with current sites censored)

Correct, Omni is extremely anti-piracy (I should have censored the first reply) However piracy was the example you chose. If you're going to make a statement about the validity of someone's post, you should anticipate that they'll defend their word.

Omni is also against misinformation, just so everyone is aware.

And I do sincerely apologize for the defensiveness; just defending my word.
Cheers ?

I'm confused about what you are defending. I don't think I said anything against your word about anything, and I wasn't coming at you about piracy in some way. I was just warning everyone that Omni doesn't like piracy so that people didn't get too free and easy going down that road of conversation.

As an author, I don't dig that people have stolen my books of course, but because one of my part time jobs is teaching, and I'm sometimes hired to teach certain films that aren't always of my choosing, I can't subscribe to every subscription service, so as to always quickly and legally watch the films I'm asked to teach so.....but none of the "uncensored" GPT sites I tried would help me out with that. That was my point. So, they aren't uncensored. lol

Also, copyright and copywrite are very often and easily confused, and it is also quite possible to type the wrong one when you actually know the right one and are typing fast. It's no big deal.

Well it just kept insisting that a bunch of different laws said things that they did not say, and that were even the exact opposite of what the law they were quoting said.

Copilot told me it was trying to "fix my problem" and continued making up lies that would fix my problem even after I told it repeatedly that lying to me does not fix the problem. .

Copilot kept claiming certain laws and certain parts of statutes said things that would solve the issue, but every time it turned out that Copilot just made those things up and all the hope it tried to give regarding the situation was just fabricated by Copilot and it just lied every time. ? Google AI and Gemini and Venice AI all told me the truth.
