Your account has been banned due to a violation of the SpreaderPro Terms of Service.

You can still review the Terms of Service within the program's Profile section—this remains accessible even without an active plan.

Please understand that SpreaderPro is still in early development and we are working hard to keep the platform secure, fair, and stable for everyone. Because of this, violations of our T.O.S. may result in permanent suspension, which is what occurred in your case.

The decision to ban your account was not made by me alone. It was a unanimous decision reached through a vote between myself and two other administrators.

We understand this may be frustrating, and we sincerely apologize for any inconvenience this has caused. If you ever decide to return as a member, we strongly encourage you to carefully review our Terms of Service to avoid future issues.

Thanks for your time and understanding,

P.S. You can also view the specific details of your ban through the pending messages tab in the Profile section or directly via the email associated with your account. Each explanation is personally hand-typed by an admin and outlines the exact reason your ban was enforced in clear and thorough detail.
