How active are the active forums list? Because most forums I know seem pretty dead.

50+ forums? Majority of the forums I know are pretty dead.

Do you have any stats to go with what you're offering? The concept in itself, doesn't sound bad. But it's no secret that forums don't attract the same amount of traffic as they once did. I can't think of 20 forums off the top of my head that generate good traffic, let alone 50! But if you indeed have that many active forums, that are getting traffic daily, would be happy to see the numbers.

good results appear after a few months, also do not exclude paid subscriptions on the forums themselves to increase the views of your topics

My telegram username is: @eden_88

There are 64 active forums in my list.
That's if you don't count Russian-speaking ones, but they also have an English-speaking audience, and so the total is ~120.

Maybe you could list out the categories what each forum has an audience for?

- Automobile
- Gaming
- Script kiddies

Etc.

So buyers know if it's their target audience and can decide which package to get and which forums for you to post.

And when you say good results appear after a few months, how many months is that?
3 months? 7 months? Any specific number?

You got any threads that you can show here that has the good results you mentioned?
Show a few if you want to kickstart your services here.

What's also your forum reputation/standing on all the forums?
