

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: OBU'S IPTV MEDIA SERVICE CHEAP AND BEST SUPPORT OVER THE WORLD

Coffeemug - May 27, 2025, 6:05 am

Hi Peeps!

For Free Trial you can create a contract and if you have a question you can convo or dm me

? IPTV Pricing ??

? LION OTT – PRICING

Basic1 Month€6 Economy3 Months€15 Standard6 Months€20 Premium12 Months€35 Ultimate24 Months€55 HD & UHD Channels
Anti-Freeze Worldwide
1 Connection (switchable when offline)
Live TV, Netflix, Disney+, Apple+, and more (with Full EPG)
Compatible with Smart TV, Phone, PC, Tablet, etc.
24/7 Support

? EAGLE – PRICING

Basic1 Month€6 Economy3 Months€15 Standard6 Months€25 Premium12 Months€40 Ultimate24 Months€70 HD & UHD Streaming
Anti-Freeze Stream Protection
1 Connection (switchable when offline)
Live TV, Netflix, Disney+, Apple+, and more
Works on all devices
24/7 Support

? Interested or need help?

Simply reply in this thread and we'll assist you directly in the conversation. Fast, easy, and transparent.

All plans include:

- Full access to live TV, VOD & EPG
- Catch-up & multi-room options (when supported)
- Technical support & uptime guarantee

(Jul 1, 2025 12:52 AM)Tyr Wrote: CITE My apologies for the wait @OP. I have contracted with them to review their IPTV services and provide a detailed analysis that highlights the pros in which Coffeemug offers. I will do my best to keep this review fair while outlining both pros and cons.

My opinion:

After testing Coffeemug's IPTV Service, I was genuinely impressed by the balance it strikes between affordability and functionality. From the outset, the pricing model is extremely competitive compared to many of the premium IPTV services circulating in both mainstream and underground markets. Subscriptions are available at flexible time increments (monthly, quarterly, etc.), making it easy for users to trial the service without a heavy upfront commitment. This kind of accessibility, especially when paired with responsive customer support, lowers the barrier for entry significantly.

The product mix is robust, offering a vast selection of global channels, including major U.S., U.K., Canadian, and South Asian networks, as well as niche sports and international news packages. What differentiates OBU's service from competitors is its inclusion of premium sports packages (NFL, UFC, PPV) without throttling or buffering. The stream quality consistently hovered around 1080p with minimal compression artifacts, even during peak viewing hours. I stress-tested the service using both wired and wireless networks, and latency remained impressively low with zapping (channel switching) speeds averaging under 2 seconds.

In terms of competition comparison, OBU outperforms several similarly priced providers that I've used in the past. While others either skimp on channel variety or sacrifice stability, OBU delivers a full-bodied experience. The Electronic Program Guide (EPG) is functional, though it could benefit from a more modern interface. That said, customer support is where this service shines—I reached out with a minor issue during setup, and response time via Telegram was under 10 minutes, with a full resolution provided shortly after.

Overall, OBU'S IPTV Media Service is ideal for budget-conscious users who want premium-level access without the bloated costs or technical headaches. It caters to both casual viewers and power users alike. If the team continues refining the user interface and adds optional integrations (like Xtream Codes or Android TV-specific apps), it could easily rise to the top tier of the IPTV ecosystem.

? Payment Methods – Crypto or Revolut Only

Spoiler (Click to View)

We accept:

- Bitcoin (BTC), Ethereum (ETH), USDT and most major cryptocurrencies
- Revolut (EUR transfers only)

[contract=tid]Start Contract[/contract]

Coffeemug - June 10, 2025, 9:46 am

OFFER:

If you are interested in our services. We can you calm down if you doubt and let you know that we can offer you a big personal offer and we guarantee you that you can get the best offer you ever had ?

We don't bite your head off.. Only your arm ?

Tyr - June 10, 2025, 9:47 am

(Jun 10, 2025 09:46 AM)Coffeemug Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) OFFER:

If you are interested in our services. We can you calm down if you doubt and let you know that we can offer you a big personal offer and we guarantee you that you can get the best offer you ever had

?

We don't bite your head off.. Only your arm ?

How much of my arm will be gone from hypothetically initiating a HQ txn with you, sir?

Coffeemug - June 10, 2025, 9:58 am

(Jun 10, 2025 09:47 AM)Tyr Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) How much of my arm will be gone from hypothetically initiating a HQ txn with you, sir?

Let's just say... about half your arm, give it or take it ??

Tyr - June 10, 2025, 10:01 am

(Jun 10, 2025 09:58 AM)Coffeemug Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Let's just say... about half your arm, give it or take it ??

Which fiscal quarter of the year will it occur in?

Coffeemug - June 10, 2025, 10:07 am

(Jun 10, 2025 10:01 AM)Tyr Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Which fiscal quarter of the year will it occur in?

Could you indicate when you typically initiate the contract, sir? That way, I can neatly schedule your physical losses within the fiscal year

Tyr - June 10, 2025, 10:12 am

(Jun 10, 2025 10:07 AM)Coffeemug Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Could you indicate when you typically initiate the contract, sir? That way, I can neatly schedule your physical losses within the fiscal year
I am able to do so now. Sending contract.

Coffeemug - June 11, 2025, 8:57 am

Eagle

? 1 Month – €10 (Now €8)

? 3 Months – €25 (Now €20!)

? 6 Months – €45 (Now €30!)

? 12 Months – €85 (Now €65!)

? 24 Months – €120 (Now €70!)

Until Sunday big OFFER this Week!!

Coffeemug - June 22, 2025, 3:47 am

Eagle

6 months from €45 Now only __€25__ for VIP, Resell or your family members

44,44% off the price now!!

Tyr - July 1, 2025, 12:52 am

My apologies for the wait @OP. I have contracted with them to review their IPTV services and provide a detailed analysis that highlights the pros in which Coffeemug offers. I will do my best to keep this review fair while outlining both pros and cons.

My opinion:

After testing Coffeemug 's IPTV Service, I was genuinely impressed by the balance it strikes between affordability and functionality. From the outset, the pricing model is extremely competitive compared to many of the premium IPTV services circulating in both mainstream and underground markets. Subscriptions are available at flexible time increments (monthly, quarterly, etc.), making it easy for users to trial the service without a heavy upfront commitment. This kind of accessibility, especially when paired with responsive customer support, lowers the barrier for entry significantly.

The product mix is robust, offering a vast selection of global channels, including major U.S., U.K., Canadian, and South Asian networks, as well as niche sports and international news packages. What differentiates OBU's service from competitors is its inclusion of premium sports packages (NFL, UFC, PPV) without throttling or buffering. The stream quality consistently hovered around 1080p with minimal compression artifacts, even during peak viewing hours. I stress-tested the service using both wired and wireless networks, and latency remained impressively low with zapping (channel switching) speeds averaging under 2 seconds.

In terms of competition comparison, OBU outperforms several similarly priced providers that I've used in the past. While others either skimp on channel variety or sacrifice stability, OBU delivers a full-bodied experience. The Electronic Program Guide (EPG) is functional, though it could benefit from a more modern interface. That said, customer support is where this service shines—I reached out with a minor issue during setup, and response time via Telegram was under 10 minutes, with a full resolution provided shortly after.

Overall, OBU'S IPTV Media Service is ideal for budget-conscious users who want premium-level access without the bloated costs or technical headaches. It caters to both casual viewers and power users alike. If the team continues refining the user interface and adds optional integrations (like Xtream Codes or Android TV-specific apps), it could easily rise to the top tier of the IPTV ecosystem.

Coffeemug - July 2, 2025, 7:35 am

(Jun 11, 2025 08:57 AM)Coffeemug Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Eagle

? 1 Month – €10 (Now €8)

? 3 Months – €25 (Now €20!)

? 6 Months – €45 (Now €30!)

? 12 Months – €85 (Now €65!)

? 24 Months – €120 (Now €70!)

Until Sunday big OFFER this Week!!

(Jul 1, 2025 12:52 AM)Tyr Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) My apologies for the wait @OP. I have contracted with them to review their IPTV services and provide a detailed analysis that highlights the pros in which Coffeemug offers. I will do my best to keep this review fair while outlining both pros and cons.

My opinion:

After testing Coffeemug 's IPTV Service, I was genuinely impressed by the balance it strikes between affordability and functionality. From the outset, the pricing model is extremely competitive compared to many of the premium IPTV services circulating in both mainstream and underground markets. Subscriptions are available at flexible time increments (monthly, quarterly, etc.), making it easy for users to trial the service without a heavy upfront commitment. This kind of accessibility, especially when paired with responsive customer support, lowers the barrier for entry significantly.

The product mix is robust, offering a vast selection of global channels, including major U.S., U.K., Canadian, and South Asian networks, as well as niche sports and international news packages. What differentiates OBU's service from competitors is its inclusion of premium sports packages (NFL, UFC, PPV) without throttling or buffering. The stream quality consistently hovered around 1080p with minimal compression artifacts, even during peak viewing hours. I stress-tested the service using both wired and wireless networks, and latency remained impressively low with zapping (channel switching) speeds averaging under 2 seconds.

In terms of competition comparison, OBU outperforms several similarly priced providers that I've used in the past. While others either skimp on channel variety or sacrifice stability, OBU delivers a full-bodied experience. The Electronic Program Guide (EPG) is functional, though it could benefit from a more modern interface. That said, customer support is where this service shines—I reached out with a minor issue during setup, and response time via Telegram was under 10 minutes, with a full resolution provided shortly after.

Overall, OBU'S IPTV Media Service is ideal for budget-conscious users who want premium-level access without the bloated costs or technical headaches. It caters to both casual viewers and power users alike. If the team continues refining the user interface and adds optional integrations (like Xstream Codes or Android TV-specific apps), it could easily rise to the top tier of the IPTV ecosystem.

Thanks you so much ???