Full-Stack Developer for Hire – Solana, Rust, Web, Extensions

I'm a full-stack developer with strong experience across Solana, Rust, JavaScript/TypeScript, and React. I've built a wide range of tools and platforms—from high-performance trading bots and market simulators to full web apps, Chrome extensions, and backend systems.

While a lot of my work is focused on the Solana ecosystem (gRPC bots, token tooling, copy trading systems, privacy tools, etc.), I also work on general web projects, automation scripts, and browser-based tools. I'm comfortable across the stack and specialize in building fast, clean, and functional products.

If you're looking for someone who can pick up complex projects quickly and deliver production-grade code with minimal hand-holding, get in touch.

GLWS, looked through your portfolio and the projects were interesting. Makes me want to get back into solana again and finish the projects I've started.
