You can purchase high quality Facebook Accounts from fbcookie - while I haven't purchased accounts from there myself in sometime, it's still a high quality standard for purchasing Facebook Accounts, that come with a 7 day warranty on any purchases.. regardless of why the account was disabled. Very stand up provider, that stands behind their product.

Alternatively, if you're going to purchase accounts from another user on the forum, make sure to use a contract, and a middleman depending on the size of the purchase. The contract is meant to hold both users accountable for their end of the transaction, and a middleman to keep your funds safe and avoid being scammed. You can find a reliable, on-site trusted middleman here, and learn more about how the contract system works here.
