Thread: Hiring a Pentester Paid Gig

Austerity - June 1, 2025, 12:32 am

HF Fam,

Someone has copied our brand and launched a project under the same name.

We're doing things the right way — but now we want to see how solid (or sloppy) their setup really is.

I'm looking to hire an ethical hacker / pentester to dig into their site and report any vulnerabilities, flaws, or poor practices.

? Full scope access

? Paid work

? You'll remain anonymous if you prefer

DM me or tag someone who's legit ?

Is it possible I have a look at the target? You just want vulnerabilities reported you want server access?

Like typical pentest , report all the vulnerabilites or disclosures or information gathered?

Yes, absolutely — I'll send you the target URL so you can review it. The goal here is to run a standard external pentest focused on identifying:

Any vulnerabilities

Information disclosures

Poor implementation practices

Weak auth/session handling

Client-side issues

Anything exploitable or worth flagging

I do not want any unauthorized access to the server or backend systems — this is a surface-level security assessment only. Just a typical report format is perfect:

Findings

Severity

Steps to reproduce

Recommended remediations

i would genuinely assist you at no cost at all if i was qualified for this type of work.

i wish i had the strength or authority to stand with you and stop them from stealing your entire project because it is truly disgusting.

i hope your future is filled with success.

This is illegal. You need a lawyer, not a blackhat.
