Hey guys!!

I see a lot of talk about (ofcourse) hacking, but what are some of the other things that you guys do?

I like to read books (reading the classics from Dostoevsky right now), photography and I like open world games a lot :)

If the sun comes out you can also find me at a cafe with friends :D

- what about you guys? xo juno

I'm very invested in boxing and love reading. My current book is a treat—The Knockout by Andy Clarke. Birthday present from GF.

Computers, and computers (hacking, programming, security, wether they are old computers or new gens, I like retro computers)

But the forum is not only about this, there are many different sections

For example, recently I've decided to start improving my skills in cooking, bakery is a pain in the ass tho, not into it for the time being. This is what I've made last night :

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=6299469>

Wanted to go back to video editing because I'm planning to make hacking tutorials videos for HF : <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=6290667>

You can't find detailed tutorials on YouTube because of their policy, they ban the videos when you give too much details. So I went with threads such as :

- <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=6282516>
- <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=6286334>

But I think people are too lazy nowadays to read tutorials and are more interested in videos, that's why I'm planning to make videos

That food does look really good :P yummy. I like cooking a lot too. Really calms me down + food is so good haha!

And that is super interested actually. I have a background in media, both video and text (also some social media content but not my expertise). I think it's a really good idea to start making content about both hacking and this forum, and not frame it in a way where black hat hackers are praised but just purely educational. You would really have to work around youtube guidelines (which changes a lot too).

If ur ever interested maybe hmu! I might be able to answer some questions or even help u if needed!
