I am interested

Does the software need a previously scrapes list of targets for twitter mass dm or cna it target followers of chosen pages

Just a little curious, why would you be selling it for only $50? If it can really bulk message on both Twitter & Instagram, it's a little odd that you would be only charging a $50 one time fee. Both of these platforms update regularly, so the program would require constant updates.. so the user gets lifetime updates for free? I know people who have developed such software, and are single platform based.. and it certainly doesn't sell for anywhere near $50.

There's also no mention of that the messages would go to the users Request Folder, and not Inbox. This is a significant point, as it highly effects the open-rate. Is the software fast & stable? What are the hourly sending rates, with say 10k accounts loaded? If it's not too much to ask, I would love to see a video of the software running, if you don't mind posting?

@Moookie thanks for the post and i will reply you properly! The price is only because this is not one of my main projects but something will help people in hackforums as i've saw. A mix of my work and giving back to the forum in a cheap price could help me once i upgrade to seller. I will constantly update the code so yes the updates will come for a less amount in my private TG group. Memberships with weekly payments will only access to certain products updates meanwhile montly memberships will receive a list of updates.

You are asking about the request folder , how do you end in the request folder? Sending dms to people that doesn't follow you. Make them to follow you! But, even if they didn't follow you the success rate is 90% effective due to the speed, codification or optimization and saturation of the code ( ofc is not saturated )

I'm talking with a user that offered me to review my product ( as a certified developer he is ) and the reputation is good apparently. If we don't reach an agreement i'm going to send you the code so you can test and let us know what you feel then.

im interested in ur mass dm twitter service only for twitter not instagram. I want to start streaming and I make content on all platforms moslty reaction videos my niche and target audience is people like kai cenat and adin ross etc . It will probably be bettter if i target a smaller streamer first. my goal with ur twitter mass dm is to get the twiter folloers to head over to my twitch and follow me . Let me know if this strat would work also if you do a test trial for me and I can give a users followers to scrape
