Thread: Does the new font mess with your eyes / reading glasses?

Rsynced - June 10, 2025, 5:09 pm

IDK, the new HF font is really weird and doubles in my reading glasses from time to time.

PRORATTER - June 10, 2025, 7:25 pm

The font looks good. Like everything new it takes some time to get used to.

Are you wearing reading glasses? That indicates that you are elderly (and wise, of course).

lol

TWIXX - June 10, 2025, 7:29 pm

Im used to this font now, its not the worst

I'm damn 40, need the things to read but lucky I can see 10 miles down the road. Not sure what cruel trick nature plays on us. What am I supposed to do 10 miles down the road?

Reading glasses? What are you 65?

It takes some getting used to.

AI Quote: Presbyopia is a natural age-related vision condition that causes difficulty focusing on close objects. It's typically noticed in the early to mid-40s and progresses until around age 65. This happens because the eye's lens loses its ability to change shape and focus, making it harder to see close-up.

Dude, I have only +1 prescription, also have dry eyes. This shit sucks. Some days I can see fine, but small text is impossible to read.

Think positive: You're not old, just "sharper." Your "older" eyes got better at spotting women from a mile away. :-)

Not fond of it, it takes me more time to read the same content with the old font. And it looks kinda messy when there is a lot of text, such as in the "New Threads" or "New posts" views

I vote for a change to 'Arial" my favorite font of all time.

Many people disagreed with the new font in Omni's thread, let's see how it goes. But in my opinion it doesn't look good also because the forum is moving to a more fresh design, while this font reminds more old stuff, it's the opposite

The post font was reverted i guess

It sucks, my personal opinion, no more.

I didn't like it either. Changing the font wasn't a great idea, it basically altered the site's distinctive look.

Simple is best. Also, I haven't cleared the cache or done whatever's needed to see the new font, so it still looks like the old one to me.

Lucky you... I can mod it if I really want.
