After a review of the activity by Mentors I have decided to delete the group.

Thank you.

Thanks DramaKing for all the help you've given to the members.

You'll remain a mentor to me.

Yes, agreed. I know that the Mentors are all good members but I wasn't seeing much need for this small group of good members to have a group. I had a bigger vision for the Mentor group and it's my own failing not pushing harder and maintaining control.

Not the first time Mentors been removed but I believe it's the shortest run and I really truly hope it's the last time I revive this group.

Sucks that I never had the chance to acquire Mentor, but there is a positive from this.
Congratulations on staff Cap , well deserved.

I think some of the custom groups can do a better job than what Mentors group were doing.

I agree 100%, but there was the nostalgic factor in it for me. Being apart of a usergroup that had a legacy on HF. Sad to see it die the way that it did, but that isn't the first time you've made that decision. More than likely going to be the last though.

Change is inevitable, and the change lately in my opinion has been positive.

Agree, waited years for that, shame that it was required via MoTM, however congrats to Cap, loser.

You win some, and lose some. You are a Mentor to me in spirit.

You'll be admin in my spirit xoxo, miss you.

Congrats Cap on the new position, I'm sure you'll smash this.

Nostre - June 14, 2025, 2:38 pm

It's unfortunate, but not surprising.

Congratulations on Staff, Cap . To say it's deserved would be an understatement. Happy to see you on the team.

Mix - June 14, 2025, 2:39 pm

Its a shame as I think if there was activity and tasks that were set and completed I could see it going well.

This is why with Writ3rs we set weekly tasks and we met them and if not then strike system was activated.

Its the same with the HFNT that I am running now if someone doesnt meet there task for the week I will be giving them a strike and such actions will take place. If someone isnt able to be active then no point of them being part of something you want to to see going for the future.

Cant lie I saw this coming sadly after our chats omni.

Happeh - June 14, 2025, 2:59 pm

Always wanted to be one so it's sad to see it go, but if no one was doing their job then you can see why.

Jamika - June 14, 2025, 4:01 pm

Was expecting this along time ago unfortunately

Blazin - June 14, 2025, 8:47 pm

That's unfortunate, but if it wasn't living up to your vision probably for the best. I wish they would have nominated me for MOTM. Oh well. One day maybe. I agree with the user above if a group like this is ever brought back by you weekly tasks should be given and monthly and if they aren't done they should be removed.

Sam - June 15, 2025, 1:52 am

I feel like it's a difficult group to maintain especially since our current Staff do such a good job around the forum. The Mentor group should of been removed a long time ago, they practically have no value other than just having a free userbar to wear.

I see a new Staff member has been promoted in the process. Congratulations for that.

Hopsin - June 17, 2025, 12:38 am

Saw this coming. I suppose a new group will be created one day in the future?
