Thread: how to break up a telegram/discord clique/turn members against each other/in-fight

I get its slimy/and mean but what i am doing is for a noble cause. I understand if this is against your morals. But asking people who are open to helping/have tips/tricks etc (not necessarily asking for a contract just asking for tips and tricks in general etc)?

Hey hey, what you could do is spread faked images of coversations where certain people talk trash about one another. You can then spread them publicly or privately with your main account or a burner account.

Easy... get a rat and infect all the members on there and then use their computers to log in and send nasty messages to other members.

You can do that or like others make fake screenshots and spread it or dox each person and send snail mail with that person address to the other members locations and send each member a nasty letter using the return address by a single member.

Have fun with it. ???
