Crypto theft campaign hits Firefox users with wallet clones

Over 40 fake Firefox extensions impersonating popular crypto wallets have been used in an ongoing campaign to steal users' wallet credentials.

IDK who in their right mind would use any web browser extension as a crypto wallet? I mean get a real wallet. better yet, get a separate device to store your main savings crypto stash and only use wallets on your PC for keeping small sums as needed.

EDIT: I guess I am kinda forced with brave browser to have an uphold wallet which I would never send jack shit to besides the mandatory monthly BAT coin deposit.
