Hey hey,

What is your policy on account retention? Let's say I buy and OF account for $99.99 but it gets banned within X months.

Once delivered you can change account details, its a normal account verified using real people, just like a normal account so it totally depend on how you're using it.

That doesn't answer my question, this isn't about account security. It's a common thing for accounts to get flagged because they got verified by a different person that is actually on the posted content. Ergo the account got verified by 'James' but it clearly is a Sophie that is in the content.

Those accounts get removed/banned. Again what is your account retention policy?

You can buy an verified OF account for $5 but those get flagged faster than the speed of light. What makes your accounts worth $99?

According to onlyfans terms it doesn't have to be the same person who post content of and on verification details. If you post stolen content they flag you. I don't think anyone sells verified accounts for $5. The ones available for $5 are cracked ones. not kyc verified personal ones.
