Thread: Ignore list and Convo skull - July 10, 2025, 1:47 am

Hi.

I was invited to a big convo with like 20 members.

One of them seem to have me on their ignore list, and due to that I cannot post messages in the convo.

Shouldn't it just be that the person ignoring me shouldn't see the message? Cause right now feels like I'm jailed from talking with the others in the chat?

That's weird, I think I was on jcole ignore list for a little while and we were in the same chat, I'm pretty sure I could still message.

Unless he left the chat and I didn't notice at the time?

I noticed that too. I couldn't figure out who had me ignored. I just left the chat.

Yeah, this needs to be fixed.

I've been made aware. Since I wasn't in a group not sure sure how well these functioned. I see now why they aren't used. Very buggy.

Since JS isn't my best language it's gonna be tough for me to really fix it but I'll give it my best shot as soon as I have more spare time.

There is two issues.

1. Members creating large "rooms" with up to 20 members. This is bad. System shouldn't be used that way and very likely I'm going to limit it to 5 members.

2. Group Rooms seem to have enough bugs and none of the commands work like Flip. Also provide notices for new messages if subscribed.

My goal is to make the Group Rooms the main functional rooms on the site. It should have a more positive effect for the groups and communication.

The global chat didn't have this issue mate. It's only the group chat where you can't message even if 1 member in the group has you on their ignore list.

#1, Could a newly signed up user invite 19 random people in Group chat or is it upgraded feature?
