Thread: USB auto-install FUD XMR MINER Windows Software?

Rsynced - July 11, 2025, 8:29 pm

I need some sort of FUD auto-install software I can just plug / unplug a USB into any windows xp/7/10/11 machine and it just starts up mining to my xmr pool (preconfigured) FUD running in the background and also auto-starts as a service upon reboot etc. I need this for testing / mining my own computer lab. Instead of having to manually install a miner on each machine and bypass windows defender virus detection.

This would be a dream if it was based off of:

MO XMRig
XMRig
XMR-Stak/RX

You can only do this on XP/Vista or by installing USB Autorun Creator. Some YouTube skid was trying to pawn this off as a way to turn any flash drive into a Rubber Ducky.

So he can just use USB Rubber Ducky itself and it will work.

That may be outside his budget and require more time to set up than just adding a Set-MpPreference script to the drive and clicking manually, depending on the number of computers I'm the farm.

Also worth mentioning that even though XMR has gone up in value, to calculate profits first. Desktop mining stopped being profitable about the time that ETH went PoS.

I can just manually install windows 10 boxes, just have my config file with my wallet address ready and allow the miner in windows defender, it's pretty easy I see now. I do not even need admin access.

I do not think this is allowed here. You need to start a contract with me when offering a service or product for sale, I do not deal off site and I believe it is prohibited to advertise the way you are. You may want to remove your post if possible.
