Thread: Biden's only hand signed pardon - WTF?

The Joker - July 15, 2025, 11:44 am

Joe Biden had signed over 1500 clemency pardons but every single one of those pardon except one were signed with auto-pen.

But he signed 1 pardon with his own hand and guess what?

That was for his son Hunter Biden.

Signing an official pardon for your son during your final days as a President is in itself a scandal and now news is out that his pardon was the only one out of thousands the president took time to sign with his own hands. How messy can it get?

But the real question is, why is this being pulled up now?

Autopen is perfectly fine and legal as long as Biden was aware of it and authorized it, Trump himself used Autopen.

Why is this being brought up? it is very obvious, to try and turn things away from the Epstein files.

Also, yeah right? The sudden debate on a pen usage after all these months makes me doubt the motive. I think Trump has his hands in deep shit.

It is possible he felt the pardon was a bit more personal because of it being his son. While he obviously lied about pardoning him to begin with I do not blame him at all, any real father would have done the same with that kind of power.

Ignore all politics, it's a scam!

I've seen on X that Joe Biden said he did not personally approve every pardon that was signed with his autopen.
