Thread: Negative ratting for no reason?

ColdCracker - July 21, 2025, 5:52 am

I recently posted my thread on this forum and started advertising my service.

A user asked for a vouch copy and I didn't personally deem his profile as qualified, so I told him no. and now I have received a -11 popularity rating for no reason. Is there a way I can dispute this?

Also, I have offered another user whos profile looks trustworthy a vouch copy but they are no longer responding..

Ok listen for me

He asked for a vouch copy , u said no , so he either

- 1- wanna revenge
- 2- think ur scammer

Is there a way to remove this ? No !

U can neg him back though

U can post more and u may get positive pop from members

And people here are different, some wanna suck your blood , some are friendly , for me one time i said in chat i need 50 more pos rep for the award , you know what ? I got -50 from haters lol ??

Post more to get more friends and trust , and never mind for haters ?

Sorry I believe you are referring to me about a vouch copy, but I'm not certain I'm qualified to use the program. I'd be more than happy to see a walk through, and review it like that.

Unfortunately, there is nothing you can do about this.. everyone has the right to give any positive or negative ratings, based on their own reasons. Some users will give you negative ratings for no reasons, it's part of the game.. but I wouldn't take it to heart it, it's happened to the best of us.

Some user did the same thing to me when I first joined, and stated that he bet in 6 months that I would be kicked off the forum for scamming... imagine that! That same dickhead doesn't even come on the forum anymore. I said all that to say this, it's not that serious.. you will gain more popular ratings over time. Some people are just miserable.. and want you to be miserable along with them, best thing you can do is not feed into it.. and not give them the satisfaction of allowing them to see that their petty rating had any affect on you.

I'm not even sure who gave you the negative rating, as I haven't checked your profile.. but if it's someone that I'm cool with.. stop being petty. ?
