Thread: Dumbest reason you \(nearly\) got expelled for in school?

HerrWinston - August 1, 2025, 7:12 am

Thread Subject is the question, i thought about this the last few days and now want to ask you! :D
I personally nearly got expelled for speaking with my classmates, you know when yall were 13-15 you also insulted your friends (please dont tell me i was the only one) once my teacher heard it and we all instantly were sent to the principal, who wanted to expell us for that.....

What was your dumbest reason?

I was close to due to not wanting to agree with the teachers grading of my essay that they had assigned me. They had given me a D even though at minimum was a B and they just hated my guts for no apparent reason while other kids had barely put any effort and were given B's.

Me and 2 other friends got suspended for grabbing milk out of the cafeteria outside of lunch hours.

I almost got expelled for pulling the fire alarm as a dumb prank. I thought it would be funny to see everyone rush out, but I had no idea the fire department would actually show up and block off the entire street. The whole school ended up outside for over an hour, and the principal was beyond mad. Definitely learned my lesson after that one!

I was a pretty shitty student. Not sure I was ever almost expelled. There were quite a few suspensions in there though.

Because I loved a girl ?

It's probably extremely dumb, but when I was 14 I wrote to a wall in school "BEEF STEAK" with huge letters.

It was just a silly inside joke we had with some friends, can't even remember how it started.

Apparently, a vegan student snitched on me and I almost got in trouble ??? They made me wash it off during class hahaha

Haha that's actually kind of iconic. Just a dumb inside joke, but of course someone had to take it way too seriously At least you didn't get fully expelled, just some soap and a missed class. Worth it for the memory ?

Stealing our Rival school's bronze mascot. Initially they wanted to expel all 5 of us for taking it. But they eventually just made us do "community service" at that school for a semester.
