Thread: Epstein victim's family complains about Maxwell's preferential treatment

The Pact - August 2, 2025, 2:02 am

Ghislaine Maxwell has been transferred from her maximum security Florida prison to a minimum security luxury prison camp in Texas. In an official statement the family of Virginia Giuffre said "This is the justice system failing victims right before our eyes."

Thank you for this update Stanle- I mean The Pact.

The whole thing is an injustice and surrounded in clouds of secrecy, extortion, and worse.

Of course the family is going to be outraged.

Most women know how all this goes down just from having once been teen girls and it's painful on a visceral level even without having experienced anything as bad.

I am sure this has nothing at all to do with the recent Epstein files situation and recent visit from the current Administrations DOJ.

The justice system is not failing anyone right now. It is working as intended. Lotta pedophiles up there that are banging kids and know they are going to see no consequences. They get groomed into it themselves. Look at the French dipshit. He was molested by a 40yr old man when he was 14. That 40yr old man is now his 'wife'. Now they are associated with countless pedos in power. It's a depraved world up there.

But I'm just a conspiracy theorist. I am just close minded and ignorant to the pedophile-type gays and trannies lifestyle.

I know a guy who owns strip clubs who has WAY more morals than these people.

I didn't think it was as wide spread among the rich and famous as this is making it clear it is.

Although I suppose I've always known there are a LOT of men out there who don't think statutory rape seriously. It is serious. Since you won't give a fuck about the girl after having sex with her do not have sex with anyone that young.

And no this isn't about me personally. It never happened to me but even when someone tried it on when I was 17 which is legal here, but I was so upset that a 41 year old teacher groped me when I was 17 he stopped when I started shouting at him though. I guess that one incident which didn't go THAT far is making this all feel visceral in how disgusting it makes me feel to read these articles. I might get a news block app or something.
