

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: UPDATE - How i got deported within some days after started working for 7

T3n - August 3, 2025, 12:39 pm

Hello everyone, someone knows me, someone doesn't. I'm a Moldovian guy who's been living his whole life in EU (Italy more specific), but always had issues with the residence permit, 8-9 years in there and still didn't had one. Mostly lived there with visas and bribing the Hungarian border patrol.

So how it all started, i've moved to Germany at the beginning of June because found someone who could help me with the residence permit there (previously living in Italy for around 2 years while waiting for the residence permit or something to justify my stay there). They sent me the job contract and told - "You can come here with this, they won't cause any issues.", we've put everything in the car and began moving. Luckily neither at the Italian border nor the German one we got stopped. Arrived in Germany, situation was everything but fucked, was speaking with 7 at that time, told him the situation, he offered me a job.

I went to Moldova to meet him (after 2-3 weeks in Germany), with my job contract in hand. I checked the dude who got me the job before leaving and he told me that everything should work out smooth asf. Had the plane in the early morning, arrived there ready to catch my flight but the things didn't exactly go as planned... At the border, the dudes gave me a hard time, told me that my situation was fucked up because i had spent the last 2 years in Italy waiting for papers (without an actual residence permit) which means i had been in the Schengen area for the last 485 days without proper documents, they also told me that the job contract that i had in hand wasn't valid without a visa and i also got hit with the following words - "You've been working here illegal for a month". They gave me some papers and told me: "Don't come back without a visa".

After all that i've made it to Moldova, 7 meet me at the airport in a killer suit, straight out of Kingsman ahahaha. 7 drove with nearly 200 km/h on a 50 road avoiding cameras like a pro ahahaha. Fast forward 3 days, i'm headed back to Germany. I call the guy who helped me with the papers and ask if everything's good and i can go (previously explained everything). He says that its fine and there won't be any issues but if something pops up to call him. Sounded solid.

I had the plane at 5 in the morning, landed in Germany at 8am. There they started all over again, i call the dude and explain him the situation, he says - "Lemme call someone". 2 Hours later he calls me and says "I've been speaking with this w that, when you get back to Moldova i'll send you everything and you can get the visa then come back." They detained me at the airport for 3 days. Like, for real i was treated as a criminal who just killed someone. Couldn't go smoke by myself or do anything else, and they were taking me to smoke 1 time a day in the morning (while i smoke a packet a day) i was dying, felt like forever bruh.

3 days later i was put on a direct flight, skipped the line and everything like a VIP lmao. 7 like always has my back ahahaha, met me at the airport again with a big smile knowing he was right that i'll be sent back and just in time for his birthday. He booked me a 5 star hotel, i had to wash my clothes after 3 days in that damn airport. 54 euros or something for 10 stuffs, WTF. The next day was 7's birthday, in the morning i went to the reception and asked - "Are my clothes ready?", they said that those will be ready next day because i gave them after 8 pm.... I call 7, explain the situation and he's like - "Let me solve that". After some minutes he calls me and says - "Your clothes gonna be ready in 5 minutes", i was like - "What The Fuck?, How?".

After that we celebrated 7's birthday with style ahahaha, expensive Wiskey, Wine. And man, there was a cute chick who was laughing at mostly all my words, great night. In the next days i've had a hard time finding a rent lmao, not even gonna talk about how it went. Big thanks to 7, he helped me with everything and cheered me up that everything will be fine everytime i was down as fuck.

The Moral ? : I don't wish anyone to go through that situation ever.

Now i'm stuck here don't know for how much, even tho i got papers to get a visa for Italy and Germany they can reject my application due to Germany inserting me in Schenghen's SIS system, something like a border database where all the people got their entry rejected in Schenghen country / deported. Even tho i'm not quite sure if i got deported because the stamp in my passport its a refused entry one not deported. We'll see how it goes but i got a place in the SIS system anyway so it doesn't really clean my record anyway. Germany sent my stuff over to the Italian government and they'll handle it from there.

Omitted some stuff, 7 knows the full story but that's the main part of it.

Seinfeld - August 3, 2025, 12:44 pm

damn that sounds incredibly stressful, big props to 7 for supporting you like that seems like it was an adventure for sure

Omniscient - August 3, 2025, 1:21 pm

Great share.

A few takeaways.

1. 7 is reliable
2. EU is fucked
3. Why can't you just stay where you belong or came from?

T3n - August 3, 2025, 1:27 pm

(Aug 3, 2025 01:21 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Great share.

A few takeaways.

1. 7 is reliable
2. EU is fucked
3. Why can't you just stay where you belong or came from?

Because after you live in a country for 9 years and have everything there including everyone from your family, going back to your country makes you feel like a stranger there.

Rsynced - August 3, 2025, 1:31 pm

That is horrible, I do not know if I could handle such a situation. These days I don't feel safe even going to the grocery store 1 mile down the road... ? I live in the USA

Omniscient - August 3, 2025, 1:39 pm

(Aug 3, 2025 01:27 PM)T3n Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Because after you live in a country for 9 years and have everything there including everyone from your family, going back to your country makes you feel like a stranger there.

Care to share the reason you left your country of origin? And seems like 9 years is enough time to setup residency legally.

T3n - August 3, 2025, 1:53 pm

(Aug 3, 2025 01:39 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Care to share the reason you left your country of origin? And seems like 9 years is enough time to setup residency legally. I was brought there by "parents" at 14 y/o. I tried to setup residency legally there. Once my mom started but before we got called to the "Questura" she moved to Romania, got a romanian residence permit and they told her that can't do anything and i had to go with her. Not her intentions though to take me w her. From there i was by myself tried all the possible way and thats it. I'm here, in Italy you can apply for a residence permit with a D type visa (which was my case x2), but they gonna make u wait 2 years & tell - "We're sorry, we've printed your permit but it expired and can't do anything more than tell you to leave the country and try again next time. Maybe you'll be lucky."

Also the only way to get a D type visa for Italy is to get a work call (which is possible only when they roll out the law which is once a year in February).

Rsynced - August 3, 2025, 1:58 pm

(Aug 3, 2025 01:53 PM)T3n Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I was brought there by "parents" at 14 y/o. I tried to setup residency legally there. Once my mom started but before we got called to the "Questura" she moved to Romania, got a romanian residence permit and they told her that can't do anything and i had to go with her. Not her intentions though to take me w her. From there i was by myself tried all the possible way and thats it. I'm here, in Italy you can apply for a residence permit with a D type visa (which was my case x2), but they gonna make u wait 2 years & tell - "We're sorry, we've printed your permit but it expired and can't do anything more than tell you to leave the country and try again next time. Maybe you'll be lucky."

Also the only way to get a D type visa for Italy is to get a work call (which is possible only when they roll out the law which is once a year in February).

I always wondered about the EU Geographic's and travel restrictions. I suppose people living in the US are completely in the dark since the US is it's own continent and you can travel to any state you want freely without restrictions. Besides Canada and Mexico, you do not have to possess any special documents to travel across the country.

T3n - August 3, 2025, 2:00 pm

(Aug 3, 2025 01:58 PM)Rsynced Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I always wondered about EU geographic and travel restrictions. I suppose people living in the US are completely in the dark since the US is it's own continent and you can travel to any state you want freely without restrictions.

If you're an EU citizen, you can travel the whole EU without any issues. If you're an outsider, you can stay there for 90 days as a tourist. To get a residence permit somewhere in EU its hard if not nearly impossible, thats why non EU citizens often marry EU ones.

W1NK1LL3RX - August 3, 2025, 2:00 pm

That sounds like a crazy experience, man. Must've been so stressful dealing with all that. Glad 7 was there to help you out through it all. Hope things start working out better for you soon.

Rsynced - August 3, 2025, 2:01 pm

(Aug 3, 2025 02:00 PM)T3n Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If you're an EU citizen, you can travel the whole EU without any issues. If you're an outsider, you can stay there for 90 days as a tourist. To get a residence permit somewhere in EU its hard if not nearly impossible, thats why non EU citizens often marry EU ones.

Ok makes sense, the family marriage laws I completely understand. Same here in the US as far as people wanting residence.

Omniscient - August 3, 2025, 2:30 pm

So then do you have an actual country you're suppose to be a citizen of?

Binance - August 3, 2025, 5:14 pm

Damn thats heavy. Scandinavia may welcome you, brother. I hope you find your place soon.

K4RM4 - August 3, 2025, 5:56 pm

Wow that's wild man

T3n - August 3, 2025, 9:35 pm

(Aug 3, 2025 02:30 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) So then do you have an actual country you're suppose to be a citizen of?

Yeah, Moldova.

7 - August 4, 2025, 2:46 am

(Aug 3, 2025 05:14 PM)Binance Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Damn thats heavy. Scandinavia may welcome you, brother. I hope you find your place soon.

I used to live in Sweden, Norway & Denmark. Lovely places to live.

He was alright though be back on his feet soon. He did smell abit after 3 days at the airport though lol ... that's why I was driving so fast :D

I thought if you were detained anywhere longer than 24hrs they must supply a bed at least but no not on borders there are no rules for it.

Disgraceful really.

Undead - August 4, 2025, 3:21 am

Respect to 7 , not many people would help someone out like that.

Yanix - August 4, 2025, 4:34 am

That was a tough experience T3n

Kudos to 7 who is always there and ready to give a hand.

T3n - August 4, 2025, 7:02 am

Thanks everyone for the support, i ran out of bytes and can't like your post.

Oh_Well - August 4, 2025, 2:14 pm

What a story! Hope everything turns out well.

Maybe we meet some day, everything in Balkans is just around the corner ;)

Omniscient - August 4, 2025, 2:24 pm

(Aug 3, 2025 09:35 PM)T3n Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Yeah, Moldova.

Is that not a reasonable country to live in? Country between Ukraine and Romania for whose unfamiliar.

Looks like it's a country in decline...

AI Quote: Life in Moldova is shaped by a mix of deep tradition, economic hardship, and slow modernization. Here's a snapshot of what daily life is like for many Moldovans in 2025:

?? Overview

Population: \~2.5 million (many Moldovans have emigrated)

Capital: Chisinau Languages: Romanian (official), Russian widely spoken

Religion: Predominantly Eastern Orthodox

? Everyday Life

Cost of living is low by Western standards, but wages are also low.

Many families rely on subsistence farming, small businesses, or remittances from relatives abroad (remittances make up ~15% of GDP). There's a strong sense of community, especially in villages.

Infrastructure (roads, water systems) is improving but often lags behind EU neighbors.

? Economy & Jobs

Moldova is one of Europe's poorest countries.

Average monthly salary: ~$400–600 USD Key industries: agriculture (wine, fruits, grains), textiles, and IT outsourcing

Youth unemployment and underemployment are high. Many young Moldovans emigrate to work in Italy, Germany, or Romania.

? Urban vs. Rural

Chisinau is relatively modern, with cafes, tech startups, and a growing cultural scene. Rural areas often lack investment, and older generations rely on pensions or farm work.

Some villages still use wells for water and wood for heating.

? Education & Health

Education is free and fairly strong in theory, but underfunded.

Many university students study abroad or migrate after graduation. Public healthcare is free but can suffer from corruption and outdated facilities.

Private clinics are used by those who can afford them.

? Geopolitics & Identity

Moldova is caught between pro-European and pro-Russian influences.

The separatist region Transnistria complicates national unity. Recent years have seen stronger pushes toward EU integration and reform.

? Culture & Lifestyle

Moldovans value family, hospitality, and tradition. Folk music, Orthodox festivals, and wine-making are deeply rooted.

Meals are hearty—think mamaliga (cornmeal), placinta (savory pastries), and homemade wine.

? Summary

Category	Reality for Many Moldovans
-----	-----
Economy	Low wages, reliant on agriculture & remittances
Modernity	Mixed—modern capital, underdeveloped rural areas
Emigration	Very high—millions work or live abroad
Culture	Strong, traditional, family-centered
Challenges	Corruption, poverty, aging population
Hopes	EU integration, youth-driven reform

Would you like insight into how young people live in Moldova today, or what retirement is like there?

Oh_Well - August 4, 2025, 2:42 pm

(Aug 4, 2025 02:24 PM)Omniscient Wrote: CITE Is that not a reasonable country to live in? Country between Ukraine and Romania for whose unfamiliar.

Looks like it's a country in decline...

You just described all the countries in the Balkans

PS: Although Moldova is not in the Balkans, it is so deeply connected to Romania and the Balkan culture that it definitely doesn't make it an Eastern European country.

Omniscient - August 4, 2025, 2:45 pm

(Aug 4, 2025 02:42 PM)Oh_Well Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) You just described all the countries in the Balkans

PS: Although Moldova is not in the Balkans, it is so deeply connected to Romania and the Balkan culture that it definitely doesn't make it an Eastern European country.

Not a lot of the world is on an uptick. Very few countries actually.

T3n - August 4, 2025, 3:20 pm

(Aug 4, 2025 02:14 PM)Oh_Well Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What a story! Hope everything turns out well.

Maybe we meet some day, everything in Balkans is just around the corner ;)

Thanks mate, everything is possible :). We'll see how it turns out.

(Aug 4, 2025 02:24 PM)Omniscient Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Is that not a reasonable country to live in? Country between Ukraine and Romania for whose unfamiliar.

Looks like it's a country in decline...

AI Quote: Life in Moldova is shaped by a mix of deep tradition, economic hardship, and slow modernization. Here's a snapshot of what daily life is like for many Moldovans in 2025:

?? Overview

Population: ~2.5 million (many Moldovans have emigrated)

Capital: Chisinau Languages: Romanian (official), Russian widely spoken

Religion: Predominantly Eastern Orthodox

? Everyday Life

Cost of living is low by Western standards, but wages are also low.

Many families rely on subsistence farming, small businesses, or remittances from relatives abroad (remittances make up ~15% of GDP). There's a strong sense of community, especially in villages.

Infrastructure (roads, water systems) is improving but often lags behind EU neighbors.

? Economy & Jobs

Moldova is one of Europe's poorest countries.

Average monthly salary: ~$400–600 USD Key industries: agriculture (wine, fruits, grains), textiles, and IT outsourcing

Youth unemployment and underemployment are high. Many young Moldovans emigrate to work in Italy, Germany, or Romania.

? Urban vs. Rural

Chisinau is relatively modern, with cafes, tech startups, and a growing cultural scene. Rural areas often lack investment, and older generations rely on pensions or farm work.

Some villages still use wells for water and wood for heating.

? Education & Health

Education is free and fairly strong in theory, but underfunded.

Many university students study abroad or migrate after graduation. Public healthcare is free but can suffer from corruption and outdated facilities.

Private clinics are used by those who can afford them.

? Geopolitics & Identity

Moldova is caught between pro-European and pro-Russian influences.

The separatist region Transnistria complicates national unity. Recent years have seen stronger pushes toward EU integration and reform.

? Culture & Lifestyle

Moldovans value family, hospitality, and tradition. Folk music, Orthodox festivals, and wine-making are deeply rooted.

Meals are hearty—think mamaliga (cornmeal), placinta (savory pastries), and homemade wine.
? Summary

Category	Reality for Many Moldovans
-----	-----
Economy	Low wages, reliant on agriculture & remittances
Modernity	Mixed—modern capital, underdeveloped rural areas
Emigration	Very high—millions work or live abroad
Culture	Strong, traditional, family-centered
Challenges	Corruption, poverty, aging population
Hopes	EU integration, youth-driven reform
Would you like insight into how young people live in Moldova today, or what retirement is like there?

Definitely a country to live in, i'm 22 haven't done the military service (which is obligatory). If at this year's elections the pro european President wins again, russia will go against Moldova and the emergency situation will start . This means that they'll take me to the army and from there it'll happen like in Ukraine lmao. Russia has a 10mil plan to take over the elections this year so think about it.... Beside that i was here for a week, we went shopping w my gf the other day, 100€ on nothing basically. You can see that my fridge its almost empty ahahahaha. High EU prices and low wages like Moldova (500€ is the average salary here).

Moooookie - August 4, 2025, 5:01 pm
(Aug 4, 2025 03:20 PM)T3n Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Thanks mate, everything is possible :). We'll see how it turns out.

Definitely a country to live in, i'm 22 haven't done the military service (which is obligatory). If at this year's elections the pro european President wins again, russia will go against Moldova and the emergency situation will start . This means that they'll take me to the army and from there it'll happen like in Ukraine lmao. Russia has a 10mil plan to take over the elections this year so think about it.... Beside that i was here for a week, we went shopping w my gf the other day, 100€ on nothing basically. You can see that my fridge its almost empty ahahahaha. High EU prices and low wages like Moldova (500€ is the average salary here).
Interesting story to say the least, glad to know that you made it thru everything mostly unscathed. Wishing for more favorable days, and a more stable place to place your head. At 22 years of age, it sounds like you have a lot on your plate.

Praying for you champ, stay up.

Radi - August 4, 2025, 8:48 pm
Reading that everything that you experienced is crazy I would have lost my mind with the process you've had to go through as well as being detained for three days. Well I've never met 7 or spoke to him but he sounds like a great guy to have as a friend that is willing to help you when in a tight spot.

Phantom_NiNja - August 4, 2025, 9:10 pm
(Aug 4, 2025 03:20 PM)T3n Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Thanks mate, everything is possible :). We'll see how it turns out.

Definitely a country to live in, i'm 22 haven't done the military service (which is obligatory). If at this year's elections the pro european President wins again, russia will go against Moldova and the emergency situation will start . This means that they'll take me to the army and from there it'll happen like in Ukraine lmao. Russia has a 10mil plan to take over the elections this year so think about it.... Beside that i was here for a week, we went shopping w my gf the other day, 100€ on nothing basically. You can see that my fridge its almost empty ahahahaha. High EU prices and low wages like Moldova (500€ is the average salary here).

Dang is Europe that broke? People here in the U.S.A be like Europeans be rich with them BMW and Mercedes cars.

Well hope for better days for you and that you don't get stuck in that crappy war. The U.S. is tangling up with Russia.

Trumps is trying to prevent a all out war. It seems like the whole region is trying to head towards a world war 3.

7 - August 4, 2025, 9:29 pm

Well I have lived in Moldova for about 8 years in total.

The government is pushing to be a part of Europe very hard but half of the people here are pro-european the other half pro-russian.

So it's a little messy. Since the war in the Ukraine many and I mean alot, of Ukrainian people fled to Moldova which pushed house prices up dramatically but the average wage didn't increase due to an influx of workers.

Why Moldova is a great place..

1gbps internet speed is standard, shopping is cheap (marlboro gold for example is 2.5euro a pack). Moldova is famous for wine but also Moldova is known for very very beautiful women... but like the wine, they give you a headache eventually.

Why I moved here..

Maximise my earnings, lowering my costs and allowing me to invest into myself.

When I moved here I came here with the same wage that I put T3n on, which is 3x the average wage. Tbh, he now makes more than an officer of the law, nurses and even some doctors. So although this has been a challenging ordeal for him, when his rent is less than 1/3rd of his salary and he lives alone thats a good place to start. I am sure within a few weeks he will be better off than he was before.

When he was told at the border not to return to Germany without the correct visa I did explain that border police don't wait for lawyers and while your in this "no mans land" you kinda don't have rights... I have been through this myself a few times but he chose to fly anyway.. and then suffered 3 days waiting for the next plane back. So I got him a super deluxe room at Marriots, got his clothes washed and fronted a little to help him while he finds a place.

So now he is legal for the first time in his adult life, has a much better computer than before, his own place and an income higher than the majority and all day he gets to speak to me hahaha

He's a good lad and now he can work in IT rather than on building sites for gypsies.

(Aug 4, 2025 03:20 PM)T3n Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Thanks mate, everything is possible :). We'll see how it turns out.

Definitely a country to live in, i'm 22 haven't done the military service (which is obligatory). If at this year's elections the pro european President wins again, russia will go against Moldova and the emergency situation will start . This means that they'll take me to the army and from there it'll happen like in Ukraine lmao. Russia has a 10mil plan to take over the elections this year so think about it.... Beside that i was here for a week, we went shopping w my gf the other day, 100€ on nothing basically. You can see that my fridge its almost empty ahahahaha. High EU prices and low wages like Moldova (500€ is the average salary here).

If you would of told me your fridge was empty, I would of helped. No legend has an empty fridge lol I will fix this today

[Video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=w0Ghd73RMAU>]

They won't put you in the military with your newly found mental illness ;) eu sunt contactul

T3n - August 4, 2025, 11:57 pm

(Aug 4, 2025 09:29 PM)7 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Well I have lived in Moldova for about 8 years in total.

The government is pushing to be a part of Europe very hard but half of the people here are pro-european the other half pro-russian.

So it's a little messy. Since the war in the Ukraine many and I mean alot, of Ukrainian people fled to Moldova which pushed house prices up dramatically but the average wage didn't increase due to an influx of workers.

Why Moldova is a great place..

1gbps internet speed is standard, shopping is cheap (marlboro gold for example is 2.5euro a pack). Moldova is famous for wine but also Moldova is known for very very beautiful women... but like the wine, they give you a headache eventually.

Why I moved here..

Maximise my earnings, lowering my costs and allowing me to invest into myself.

When I moved here I came here with the same wage that I put T3n on, which is 3x the average wage. Tbh, he now makes more than an officer of the law, nurses and even some doctors. So although this has been a challenging ordeal for him, when his rent is less than 1/3rd of his salary and he lives alone thats a good place to start. I am sure within a few weeks he will be better off than he was before.

When he was told at the border not to return to Germany without the correct visa I did explain that border police don't wait for lawyers and while your in this "no mans land" you kinda don't have rights... I have been through this myself a few times but he chose to fly anyway.. and then suffered 3 days waiting for the next plane back. So I got him a super deluxe room at Marriots, got his clothes washed and fronted a little to help him while he finds a place.

So now he is legal for the first time in his adult life, has a much better computer than before, his own place and an income higher than the majority and all day he gets to speak to me hahaha

He's a good lad and now he can work in IT rather than on building sites for gypsies.

If you would of told me your fridge was empty, I would of helped. No legend has an empty fridge lol I will fix this today

[Video: <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=w0Ghd73RMAU>]

They won't put you in the military with your newly found mental illness ;) eu sunt contactulAhahaha, don't worry about the fridge. Lmaoo mental illness))))

(Aug 4, 2025 05:01 PM)Mooooookie Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Interesting story to say the least, glad to know that you made it thru everything mostly unscathed. Wishing for more favorable days, and a more stable place to place your head. At 22 years of age, it sounds like you have a lot on your plate.

Praying for you champ, stay up.

Appreciate the support man.

(Aug 4, 2025 08:48 PM)Radi Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Reading that everything that you experienced is crazy I would have lost my mind with the process you've had to go through as well as being detained for three days. Well I've never met 7 or spoke to him but he sounds like a great guy to have as a friend that is willing to help you when in a tight spot.

Yeah ngl it was tough sitting there like a criminal but everything got sorted out, Yeah 7 its a great guy, maybe next month i'll take him to a hotel and order him the best adult entertainment of his life ahahahah.

(Aug 4, 2025 09:10 PM)Phantom_NiNja Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Dang is Europe that broke? People here in the U.S.A be like Europeans be rich with them BMW and Mercedes cars.

Well hope for better days for you and that you don't get stuck in that crappy war. The U.S. is tangling up with Russia.

Trumps is trying to prevent a all out war. It seems like the whole region is trying to head towards a world war 3.

This ain't Europe yet lmao, but we heading that way. We'll see how the country will progress. Yeah i also hope not to get stuck there, got plenty of stuff to do before dying)). Yeah they fucking around, but no clue tbh. I mean, we're at the border with EU, the war shouldn't spread here but we'll see how it goes.

RangoWorld - August 5, 2025, 1:37 am

Sounds like the beginning for the plot of next Fallout movie.

Anyways. Glad that things are relatively better now as far as situation goes and props to 7 for having your back.

P.S: Use paragraphs bro

7 - August 5, 2025, 10:22 am

Anyway, Fridge sorted. Rock 'n' rolll

T3n - August 5, 2025, 10:51 am

(Aug 5, 2025 10:22 AM)7 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Anyway, Fridge sorted. Rock 'n' rolll

As usual 7 trying to save the day ahahhaa even tho it wasn't needed, still got moneys.

7 - August 5, 2025, 11:25 am

empty fridge = empty promises = empty words

T3n - August 5, 2025, 12:25 pm

(Aug 5, 2025 11:25 AM)7 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) empty fridge = empty promises = empty words= empty stomach = brain won't work as should.

anyway, dw will send the fridge pic tomorrow.

SIM-4446504 - August 5, 2025, 7:07 pm

(Aug 3, 2025 12:39 PM)T3n Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Snipped.

Omitted some stuff, 7 knows the full story but that's the main part of it.

Geez! What a story!

I hope you don't have anymore problems bud, the smoking thing hit close to home! I couldn't imagine days of that!

Makes for a good read though hahaha

T3n - August 7, 2025, 12:53 am

The fridge pic gonna be posted this evening, 7 kept his word ahahah.

T3n - August 8, 2025, 4:50 am

(Aug 7, 2025 12:53 AM)T3n Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The fridge pic gonna be posted this evening, 7 kept his word ahahah.

<https://posting.cc/bGdgW8nc>

Braco22 - August 8, 2025, 7:34 am

They probably put a stamp on your passport that you are denied entry into the Schengen area in the next X months. Check that, by overstaying the 90/180 day rule, you probably got a 1 or 2 year ban of entry in the Schengen area.

T3n - August 8, 2025, 7:35 am

(Aug 8, 2025 07:34 AM)Braco22 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) They probably put a stamp on your passport that you are denied entry into the Schengen area in the next X months. Check that, by overstaying the 90/180 day rule, you probably got a 1 or 2 year ban of entry in the Schengen area.

They told me that its a 3 years ban, but gotta check twice with a lawyer or something.

Braco22 - August 8, 2025, 2:55 pm

(Aug 8, 2025 07:35 AM)T3n Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) They told me that its a 3 years ban, but gotta check twice with a lawyer or something.If it's a 3 year ban, no lawyer can lift that ban. You'll be rejected even if you had authentic work contract and even if you had a employer's letter sent guaranteeing for you. You got a blemish on your record now, because you didn't check things twice and trusted the words of some random guy.

Oh_Well - August 8, 2025, 3:07 pm

(Aug 8, 2025 02:55 PM)Braco22 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If it's a 3 year ban, no lawyer can lift that ban. You'll be rejected even if you had authentic work contract and even if you had a employer's letter sent guaranteeing for you. You got a blemish on your record now, because you didn't check things twice and trusted the words of some random guy.

3 year ban for this? Sounds too much

T3n - August 9, 2025, 1:20 am

(Aug 8, 2025 02:55 PM)Braco22 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If it's a 3 year ban, no lawyer can lift that ban. You'll be rejected even if you had authentic work contract and even if you had a employer's letter sent guaranteeing for you. You got a blemish on your record now, because you didn't check things twice and trusted the words of some random guy.

Well, they told me i exceeded my stay as a tourist in Schengen area by 500 days which are 180 days a year so = 3 years. If i manage to get a visa for germany/italy ecc i can go back, the thing is that i got papers to get visas for those 2 countries, but nobody can guarantee that they'll approve them.

Braco22 - August 9, 2025, 5:50 am

(Aug 9, 2025 01:20 AM)T3n Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Well, they told me i exceeded my stay as a tourist in Schengen area by 500 days which are 180 days a year so = 3 years. If i manage to get a visa for germany/italy ecc i can go back, the thing is that i got papers to get visas for those 2 countries, but nobody can guarantee that they'll approve them.Bro as a guy who immigrated to Slovenia, being from an EX-YU country that is not in the EU, I read the laws more than a dozen times.

Until the BAN is OVER, you will NOT BE ABLE to get approved any type of visa (student, work, family reunion) UNTILL your ban expires. Even after your ban expires, you will have a blemish on your record and it will be also very hard to get approved (but not necessarily).

T3n - August 9, 2025, 9:47 am

(Aug 9, 2025 05:50 AM)Braco22 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Bro as a guy who immigrated to Slovenia, being from an EX-YU country that is not in the EU, I read the laws more than a dozen times.

Until the BAN is OVER, you will NOT BE ABLE to get approved any type of visa (student, work, family reunion) UNTILL your ban expires. Even after your ban expires, you will have a blemish on your record and it will be also very hard to get approved (but not necessarily).

Ah shit, well i'm fucked then. I'll apply for the Romanian citizenship as we Moldovians can, at this point. I've read that they can deny your visa if you're banned from the schengen area but i have a clean record in italy, been working there for some years legal tho.

Braco22 - August 9, 2025, 9:53 am

(Aug 9, 2025 09:47 AM)T3n Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Ah shit, well i'm fucked then. I'll apply for the Romanian citizenship as we Moldovians can, at this point. I've read that they can deny your visa if you're banned from the schengen area but i have a clean record in italy, been working there for some years legal tho. Apply for a Romanian citizenship and hopefully you can bribe someone within the office to work on it faster this way you'll have unobstructed entry to the Schengen (if you get a RO passport before the end of those 3 years of ban).

T3n - August 9, 2025, 10:04 am

(Aug 9, 2025 09:53 AM)Braco22 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Apply for a Romanian citizenship and hopefully you can bribe someone within the office to work on it faster this way you'll have unobstructed entry to the Schengen (if you get a RO passport before the end of those 3 years of ban).

Well, if you pay they can do it faster but the usual waiting time is 1-5 years.

T3n - August 11, 2025, 6:02 am

UPDATE: i actually went to the italian embassy. They told me to fix the issue with the germans first else i'll just lose the papers for the visa. Send everything over to the AG office in dortmund. Got an appointment to the german embassy on 21 August to see what they saying. 21 August is kind of the last day to do something about this, i had 1 month to contest, because they didn't decided yet as it says in the papers i got from the border police.

My contestation is solid tho, papers, past legal stay in italy, slow process of the italian government, fucked up situation in germany that i wasn't aware of. In case this won't show any good results, well thats it. I just wanted to have a way out from Moldova cuz some shit will start soon and i don't want to be sent to the army lmao.

Oh_Well - August 11, 2025, 9:18 am

(Aug 11, 2025 06:02 AM)T3n Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) UPDATE: i actually went to the italian embassy. They told me to fix the issue with the germans first else i'll just lose the papers for the visa. Send everything over to the AG office in dortmund. Got an appointment to the german embassy on 21 August to see what they saying. 21 August is kind of the last day to do something about this, i had 1 month to contest, because they didn't decided yet as it says in the papers i got from the border police.

My contestation is solid tho, papers, past legal stay in italy, slow process of the italian government, fucked up situation in germany that i wasn't aware of. In case this won't show any good results, well thats it. I just wanted to have a way out from Moldova cuz some shit will start soon and i don't want to be sent to the army lmao.

hope everything turns out well!

T3n - August 11, 2025, 9:22 am

(Aug 11, 2025 09:18 AM)Oh_Well Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) hope everything turns out well!

Technically i could change my surname and get away with it, Germany has my fingerprints from a past experience where they nearly deported me in 2022 but i just won't go in germany for the next 10 years. They haven't took any of my stuff this time so idk might be an escape if all done before 12 of october when EU take fingerprints / facial scan from non eu citizens.

Oh_Well - August 11, 2025, 9:25 am

(Aug 11, 2025 09:22 AM)T3n Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Technically i could change my surname and get away with it, Germany has my fingerprints from a past experience where they nearly deported me in 2022 but i just won't go in germany for the next 10 years. They haven't took any of my stuff this time so idk might be an escape if all done before 12 of october when they'll take fingerprints / facial scan from non eu citizens.

If you don't need to go there for work or something, fuck it, Europe has plenty of places

T3n - August 11, 2025, 9:25 am

(Aug 11, 2025 09:25 AM)Oh_Well Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) If you don't need to go there for work or something, fuck it, Europe has plenty of placesThats the thing, i'll just avoid germany cuz i don't got any business there.

The Pact - August 12, 2025, 5:01 am

Can you edit your opening post and put paragraphs in?

There have been times when I've forgotten to do this myself. I often do it last which isn't really the way one should do it.

I'm too tired right now to try reading this without them. lol

T3n - August 12, 2025, 6:56 am

(Aug 12, 2025 05:01 AM)The Pact Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Can you edit your opening post and put paragraphs in?

There have been times when I've forgotten to do this myself. I often do it last which isn't really the way one should do it.

I'm too tired right now to try reading this without them. lol

There.

UPDATE: Yesterday i've cooked with AI and google, sent every piece of paper i had to the office in Germany that deals with my case, beside that got the dude that called me at work in Italy to write a letter saying that he needs me asap because also my papers to get visa for Italy expire in 3 months. Today they replied saying to send them my post address to notify me, also said that will rush everything and much as possible and let me know so, big hopes.

This doesn't guarantee anything, they will decide if will lift my Schengen ban / pause for now or if i'm guilty and the 3 years ban will be applied.

Stupid me not to search everything earlier , apparently i had 1 month to contest everything as they didn't decided yet. The papers that they gave me at the border was just a notification that they started a case against me.

SIM-2502833 - August 12, 2025, 5:30 pm

Go back home. You have no right to be in the EU and you shouldn't be.

T3n - August 12, 2025, 5:51 pm

(Aug 12, 2025 05:30 PM)SIM-2502833 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Go back home. You have no right to be in the EU and you shouldn't be.

Lol, i got papers to get a legit visa in Italy type D like i already had in the past and got. If i'm having legit papers, the dude that wants to employ me waits for me, why can't i? Also i'm not in the EU rn lmao.

Your quote its like - "You shouldn't be alive" WTF

Oh_Well - August 12, 2025, 11:23 pm

(Aug 12, 2025 05:30 PM)SIM-2502833 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Go back home. You have no right to be in the EU and you shouldn't be.

Mind blowing fact: people with passports can travel legally. Wild, right?

This kind of comment is exactly why understanding the law (and basic respect) is important.

SIM-2502833 - August 13, 2025, 1:41 pm

(Aug 12, 2025 05:51 PM)T3n Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Lol, i got papers to get a legit visa in Italy type D like i already had in the past and got. If i'm having legit papers, the dude that wants to employ me waits for me, why can't i? Also i'm not in the EU rn lmao.

Your quote its like - "You shouldn't be alive" WTF

Truly the pinnacle of intelligence right here. The reason 'dude' wants to employ you is because he can pay you less and knows you want to abandon your homeland to take advantage of someone else's. Not only that, it is well known that employers hire immigrants because they know all it takes is the stroke of a pen to get you kicked back out, thus giving them leverage over you. Instead of being a nomad in Western Europe why not try going back to your country and making that better?

Import the third world, become the third world, and you're a first hand example of this.

(Aug 12, 2025 11:23 PM)Oh_Well Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Mind blowing fact: people with passports can travel legally. Wild, right?

This kind of comment is exactly why understanding the law (and basic respect) is important.

Lmao guy talks like the EU hasn't become a total shithole. Your natives are leaving in droves, all because of your exact thinking. As if the law represents morality, or has any bearing on it.

Oh_Well - August 13, 2025, 1:53 pm

(Aug 13, 2025 01:41 PM)SIM-2502833 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Truly the pinnacle of intelligence right here. The reason 'dude' wants to employ you is because he can pay you less and knows you want to abandon your homeland to take advantage of someone else's. Not only that, it is well known that employers hire immigrants because they know all it takes is the stroke of a pen to get you kicked back out, thus giving them leverage over you. Instead of being a nomad in Western Europe why not try going back to your country and making that better?

Import the third world, become the third world, and you're a first hand example of this.

Lmao guy talks like the EU hasn't become a total shithole. Your natives are leaving in droves, all because of your exact thinking. As if the law represents morality, or has any bearing on it.

My thinking unites people and this will get us through while the shitholes we call parliaments try to take away our humanity.

Also, what you call a third world, is a creation of Europe and America. We are responsible for their shitholes so now it comes back to our face.

SIM-2502833 - August 13, 2025, 1:57 pm

(Aug 13, 2025 01:53 PM)Oh_Well Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) My thinking unites people and this will get us through while the shitholes we call parliaments try to take away our humanity.

Also, what you call a third world, is a creation of Europe and America. We are responsible for their shitholes so now it comes back to our face.

Well shit man if it's all our fault lets just breed ourselves out of existence and let them take over, I'm sure things will be so much better then!

Oh_Well - August 13, 2025, 2:08 pm

(Aug 13, 2025 01:57 PM)SIM-2502833 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Well shit man if it's all our fault lets just breed ourselves out of existence and let them take over, I'm sure things will be so much better then!

Why can't we find a way to fix our shitty lives together than see threats and enemies everywhere?

T3n - August 13, 2025, 11:52 pm

(Aug 13, 2025 01:41 PM)SIM-2502833 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Truly the pinnacle of intelligence right here. The reason 'dude' wants to employ you is because he can pay you less and knows you want to abandon your homeland to take advantage of someone else's. Not only that, it is well known that employers hire immigrants because they know all it takes is the stroke of a pen to get you kicked back out, thus giving them leverage over you. Instead of being a nomad in Western Europe why not try going back to your country and making that better?

Import the third world, become the third world, and you're a first hand example of this.

Lmao guy talks like the EU hasn't become a total shithole. Your natives are leaving in droves, all because of your exact thinking. As if the law represents morality, or has any bearing on it.

You can't get good in a country where the system its death and corrupt but we'll see where it goes.

Hackers - October 26, 2025, 7:35 am

Very interesting story, didn't realize you were close like that. Very cool

The Joker - October 26, 2025, 7:47 am

Sounds stressful and you were lucky to have 7 back you up! Hope it's all sorted now.

T3n - October 26, 2025, 9:21 am

I forgot to update the post.

Basically Germany just banned my entry in EU as a tourist for the next 3 years or so. About 2 months ago i applied for the Italian visa as i got the papers for it, in september they granted it and i flew to italy right away. Everything's back to normal, just got a nice rent. Last thing that i'm waiting for now is the pc i ordered from amazon to arrive and we getting back to work (with 7).

Still big thanks to 7 for helping me a lot back then , never will be able to thank him enough.

DAL-SHA - October 26, 2025, 11:03 am

Man , Wow , such a roller coaster of events for you man !!

"7" is the guy , 7 is the dude that got the back of all man .. ??