

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: If you could speak with 1 Person that is dead, who?

HerrWinston - August 3, 2025, 3:13 pm

So to clarify the question, you get to choose ANYONE that has ever lived but is dead now. You have 1 day where you can do some basic things together, or show that person around a little, going for a walk to speak and stuff like that (24h), you can ask anything you want and they will answer with the truth, other then that their personality will stay the same, but they will be friendly towards you and wont make a scene or anything lol. They are in good condition but know everything they have done or have lived through ^^

I think i would take "Otto Von Bismarck" as i really love his history and would want to speak with him about everything he has done in his life, he was strategic, intelligent, charming... perfect for his job indeed

W1NK1LL3RX - August 3, 2025, 5:56 pm

(Aug 3, 2025 03:13 PM)HerrWinston Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) So to clarify the question, you get to choose ANYONE that has ever lived but is dead now. You have 1 day where you can do some basic things together, or show that person around a little, going for a walk to speak and stuff like that (24h), you can ask anything you want and they will answer with the truth, other then that their personality will stay the same, but they will be friendly towards you and wont make a scene or anything lol. They are in good condition but know everything they have done or have lived through ^^

I think i would take "Otto Von Bismarck" as i really love his history and would want to speak with him about everything he has done in his life, he was strategic, intelligent, charming... perfect for his job indeed

If I could speak with one person who's passed, it'd be William Wallace. I'd love to hear his perspective on freedom, loyalty, and what drove him to keep fighting despite everything. Just imagine hearing that kind of fire and conviction straight from the source, raw, unfiltered, and legendary.

K4RM4 - August 3, 2025, 5:59 pm

I think I'm going to have to go with Churchill.

W1NK1LL3RX - August 4, 2025, 2:42 pm

(Aug 3, 2025 05:59 PM)Ab3Snak3 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I think I'm going to have to go with Churchill. Great choice! Churchill's leadership and speeches were truly inspiring. I'd definitely agree, he's someone worth talking to for sure.

miskolcrootkits - August 4, 2025, 3:29 pm

My one and only TRUCEL

samsulek - August 4, 2025, 4:33 pm

IntelBroker

Radi - August 4, 2025, 8:34 pm

The one person that I can think of on top of my head would have to be between Alexander the Great or Leonardo da Vinci. I know that they are counter opposite of each other as historic figures but their intellect is still being studied to this day and I would love to hear their train of thought as well as seeing how developed strategies for certain things they did in history.

Oh_Well - August 5, 2025, 12:04 am

That's a tough question, I can think of so many.

I think I'd go with Aristotle. Maybe a conversation with him would open new horizons oRequiem - August 5, 2025, 1:09 am

Gotta go with Juice WRLD.

RangoWorld - August 5, 2025, 1:28 am

Probably Marcus Aurelius. I liked his work that he had written.

HerrWinston - August 5, 2025, 2:41 am

(Aug 4, 2025 08:34 PM)Radi Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The one person that I can think of on top of my head would have to be between Alexander the Great or Leonardo da Vinci. I know that they are counter opposite of each other as historic figures but their intellect is still being studied to this day and I would love to hear their train of thought as well as seeing how developed strategies for certain things they did in history.

Your right, 2 very different personas but i see why you would like to speak with both of them, they are very interesting people and sure have a LOT to talk about!

(Aug 5, 2025 12:04 AM)Oh_Well Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) That's a tough question, I can think of so many.

I think I'd go with Aristotle. Maybe a conversation with him would open new horizonsAristotle is nice aswell but i gotta admit i would rather speak with Diogenes hahaha (Aug 5, 2025 01:09 AM)oRequiem Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Gotta go with Juice WRLD.

Juice WRLD is a good call aswell, just chilling with him and speaking about life

(Aug 5, 2025 01:28 AM)RangoWorld Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Probably Marcus Aurelius. I liked his work that he had written.

Marcus Aurelius is such a good pick, i like him very much and have studied a little about him too in my history phase lol

W1NK1LL3RX - August 5, 2025, 4:01 am

(Aug 5, 2025 01:28 AM)RangoWorld Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Probably Marcus Aurelius. I liked his work that he had written.

That's awesome! He's definitely one of those people you could talk to for hours, so much wisdom. I went through a bit of a Stoicism phase too, his mindset really stuck with me.

Oh_Well - August 5, 2025, 6:38 am

(Aug 5, 2025 02:41 AM)HerrWinston Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Aristotle is nice aswell but i gotta admit i would rather speak with Diogenes hahaha or just a round table with a few of them would be interesting as well ?

W1NK1LL3RX - August 5, 2025, 7:08 am

(Aug 4, 2025 08:34 PM)Radi Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) The one person that I can think of on top of my head would have to be between Alexander the Great or Leonardo da Vinci. I know that they are counter opposite of each other as historic figures but their intellect is still being studied to this day and I would love to hear their train of thought as well as seeing how developed strategies for certain things they did in history.

That's a solid choice, both were brilliant in completely different ways. I'd love to hear how their minds worked too, especially how they approached challenges in their time. Imagine the conversations you could have with either of them.

Jamika - August 5, 2025, 7:50 am

My dad , missing him so much

HerrWinston - August 5, 2025, 8:05 am

(Aug 5, 2025 07:50 AM)Jamika Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) My dad , missing him so much

Sorry to hear that, may he rest in peace.

I hope your doing well

W1NK1LL3RX - August 5, 2025, 8:13 am

(Aug 5, 2025 07:50 AM)Jamika Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) My dad , missing him so much

I hear you...missing someone like that never really goes away. Sending you strength, remember he's always with you in some way. :)