

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: U.S. Sanctions Firm Behind N. Korean IT Scheme; Arizona Woman Jailed for Running Lap

Stanley - August 5, 2025, 11:05 am

U.S. Sanctions Firm Behind N. Korean IT Scheme; Arizona Woman Jailed for Running Lap

The U.S. Department of the Treasury's Office of Foreign Assets Control (OFAC) sanctioned a North Korean front company and three associated individuals for their involvement in the fraudulent remote information technology (IT) worker scheme designed to generate illicit revenues for Pyongyang.

The sanctions target Korea Sobaeksu Trading Company (aka Sobaeksu United Corporation), and Kim Se Un, Jo

<https://thehackernews.com/2025/07/us-sanctions-firm-behind-n-korean-it.html>

Laughing Man - October 3, 2025, 7:19 am

We sanction NK frequently, nothing like a little man to beat his chest so loudly.

plops - October 3, 2025, 7:19 pm

That one is so funny to me. North Korea working american day jobs to fund pyongyang.

Yes, there other incentives for them like infiltrating the it company, but still lol

Fish - October 4, 2025, 3:53 am

(Oct 3, 2025 07:19 AM)Laughing Man Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) We sanction NK frequently, nothing like a little man to beat his chest so loudly.

Trump does stuff all day and all night, and he clicks undo just as fast

DAL-SHA - October 7, 2025, 8:34 am

North Korea's shady IT scam got hit with OFAC sanctions, and an Arizona woman got caught running the racket? Guess crime doesn't pay—unless you're into jail time and international drama??