Bitcoin showed the path, and decentralized AI must ditch rented compute

Most AI startups are just prompt arbitrage built on rented compute. By 2027, platform landlords will crush 70% of them. Only decentralized AI will survive.

Lots of startups fail, but you need to start somewhere. Landlords will crush a lot of them, but the few who survive will be the strong ones who passed the weed out phase

Makes sense—AI relying on rented servers won't last long. Decentralized AI could be the future for independence and survival??
