? Looking for a No-KYC Exchange? ?

Hey everyone! ?

If you're on the hunt for a no KYC trading option, I've got a solid recommendation for you.

Check out:

? LocalCoinSwap

? Decentralized exchange – No central authority holding your funds

? No KYC required – Maintain your privacy

? Multiple payment methods – Trade the way you want

I've been using it and it's been smooth, fast, and private — exactly what I was looking for. Definitely worth giving it a try!

I would say it isn't. The link they provided doesn't have a referral attached to it. Also, for what it is worth, I've used LCS before and it's not bad. Should you use that to exchange crypto to crypto? No. Cash to crypto is good on there however.

Ya sorry I wasn't clear I'm not like sponsored by them or collecting referrals, I just use it since it's easy. And the code section of the post idk I was prolly high or smth .

I haven't yet done a swap on that site. It just has an icky feeling like my risk factor is very high.

Hey I'm ngl, I thought that too but they have a whole process for automated middle man for the exchanger and everything. If you do and smth happens I would be surprised I get paid on Friday I'll send you smth to try lol.

I've used it a couple of times after Agoradesk shut down. Never had an issue.

Only downside imo is the small amount of sellers/buyers and high fees.

A friend of mine used a reputable exchanger to get a car paid for. Trustworthy people only of course.

Has anyone used this for selling in the UK? More specifically cash in person, quite sceptical over here so was wondering if anyone could share some advice.

Good question. I noticed that too. Could be a sign to stay away from it until someone reputable has vouched for it. OP said that he gets paid Friday.. and that he would send Omni something so he could try it. Friday was yesterday, centralized payday for most people with a 9 to 5.. and I'm pretty sure that never happened.
