Sherrod Brown, targeted by crypto PAC in 2024, to run for US Senate again

The former Ohio senator's 2024 race against Bernie Moreno, whose campaign was bolstered by money from the crypto industry, was one of the most expensive in the state's history.

The crypto money pouring into politics is just wild. After a race that expensive, you'd think he'd take a break. Guess not. It's going to be another brutal election cycle, I bet.?

Losing last time clearly did not stop him.

He is coming back sharper and more focused.

Something about crypto and politics just doesn't sit right with me. Can't pinpoint exactly what it is, just not feeling it.
