Thread: LOOKING FOR A FULL-STACK WEB DEVELOPER

Sin44 - August 22, 2025, 8:33 am

I'm currently working on my own web application. It's a web application which creates a website, logo or bussines card with AI (like wix.com or hostinger.com). The customer tells AI what the website needs to be (name of web etc.) and AI makes it. Afterwards the customers must be able to customise it (drag-drop, text and color customisation etc.). Currently the big part of the front end is ready but need someone who can help me with the back end and AI implementation etc. If someone can help me please send me a pm.

I have done similar site for a client with open Ai. I can dev the same for you as well. Plus I can also guide you with free €5 credit from open ai multiple times, you just need to change the API keys and you are good to go every time €5 ends. Deploying a site will cost around €0.3 worth of credits with 10 pages or more, just to get a rough estimate. You can also fund your account with €€ if you are lazy to make €5 accounts as well
