Thread: Selling OFF our Entire Business to Pivot To Other Fields

Air Gunman - August 31, 2025, 11:40 pm

As per our others post, we want to sell our entire Network.

This covers:

1. The Dragoons (B4U) channel with close to 800 HQ members that is always looking to book with you. Comes with reliable partners for the B4U. Bills clearance partner will also be handed off for the new clients.
2. Secret Luxury Shop channel for Rolex hyperclones with members that have intent to buy. Comes with the contact of the maker.
3. Ebay Sellers Guild. The management to a number of high reputed sellers that can sell 3 - 5 SE printers daily, software, and other stuffs. And the contact of the current suppliers working with us

And more importantly we will connect you with our secret super effective telegram advertiser that has helped us to grow our channels and network over the 1 - 2 yrs. The more budget you have the better it will be.

Check us out here.

In a month, we are making about $5K - $6K in profits. We are looking to sell it at 3x the profit at the value of $15K to $18K (negotiable).

Talk to me more at tg @silkmas to understand better

May I ask what your reason is for wanting to sell off your entire business, if it's profitable and doing well?

First of ALL thanks for replying this thread.

Some of my connections (and admins of some forums) around have known about this. I am scammed IRL as my partner swapped the supposedly real luxury goods with replicas. These goods was supposed to be supplied to several stores in Hong Kong. Because of this I have to compensate these stores and the losses they have incurred. I am also being pressed with legal charges for cheating because I had promised authentic items.

As such, now I need a huge amount of money in a short amount of time. The monthly earnings I make barely covers the damage. For those interested in the stories, I can show proofs and maybe be a warning to deal with certain people (the supplier I know IRL but he is big on TG too)

For those interested in this sale, I can hop on a google meet (cam off) to explain the business and the entire process and what this sale covers. It's basically an ecosystem that can grow if you have good standing in the forums and want to grow a community.

Thank you

I would first like to say I'm sorry to hear that you're having to go thru something like that. It's never a good time when being put in a situation where you owe money unexpectedly. Your partner is a real scumbag for pulling a move like that. Is there nothing you're able to do against him? Why is all the weight of the problem falling on you, when the two of you were in it together? Really messed up the situation, and I'm wishing you luck on finding a quick solution to resolve this.

While I'm always open to hearing new business opportunities, just hearing about this mishap is enough to make me not want to get involved with it. I don't know about the industry myself, to get myself invested in it. I have good reputation on multiple forums, but I don't really understand how a replica business correlates with having a good standing on a forum such as this one? Can you explain that a little? I guess I'm just completely out the loop of how the whole thing works.

It's because I am the one who owns and holds the demand/the clients. He blocked me and ghosted me everywhere.

What I am selling here as my entire business network has nothing to do with the luxury goods I mentioned. It was branded clothings and fashions. And as you can see i do not sell those anymore. I also encourage everyone to always deal using MM or contract when buying items and have them checked out. It's partnership problem.

Sorry for the misunderstanding. A good standing in the forum has nothing to do with the replica business nor my network. Anyone can own this
