INTRODUCING : ? PROPEDGE × RT ?

"Unlock Funded Accounts & Limitless Profits with reputed Prop Firms using our Powerful System"

This Forum has seen its fair share of people claiming to get you access to Funded accounts, it's not easy, hence most go underground.

What most of them do is simply rely on EAs alone which is never going to work long-term when it comes to getting Funded Accounts.

What you need is a complete & proven system which we provide, that no one else in the current market is providing.

Enter, the ? PROPEDGE SYSTEM ?

"Easily make upwards of $5,000+ in pure profits a month."

FAIL TO MAKE MONEY WITH OUR SYSTEM AND WE REFUND YOU 100%

? PROPEDGE × RT - IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT!! ?

The Original thread design is still posted below under spoilers. The thread design is lengthy as it covers a lot of different aspects in regards to Prop Firms in general. It is helpful for people to understand especially if you have very limited knowledge of what Prop Firms are.

- We do provide a 100% refund in the event you couldn't make a single $ with our system, its that simple. Refunds are however not available unless you can clearly demonstrate that you have made zero ($0) from properly setting up everything and using this system as instructed. In such a case, a 100% refund will be issued, but you will be required to provide supporting evidence and proper trade logs of what you did and why it didn't work for you. All evidence will be thoroughly reviewed before the refund is approved, but our partner and us at RT believe in transparency, and we will provide a refund should you fail to achieve profits from this system.
- We are open to using a Middleman (MM) for the service. However, the MM conditions needs to be discussed with us prior on how it would potentially operate where it protects "You" - the Client, "Us" - the Seller and our partner.
- We will not engage in debates about what constitutes as sales trashing. That decision rests with RT and as strictly listed in Market TOS of HF, if any evidence is found that constitutes sales thrashing, you will be reported and your post reported to the staff for removal. Continued harrasment would lead to warning or worse; closing of your account for not following the HF MP TOS.
- We make every effort to ensure client satisfaction. Please reach out to us for any concerns so we can address them properly and don't simply jump to conclusions. We at Resurgence Trading take great pride in the highest client satisfaction.
- Initiating a chargeback without proper validation and justification will automatically void your support, access to future updates, and refund eligibility. Additionally, a community alert will be issued against you and removed from our partner's services in its entirety.
- Unnecessary sales trashing and spamming on the thread will not be tolerated. You are welcome to leave honest feedbacks; positive or negative: after utilizing the system yourself. This ensures other members receive genuine insights into what the system provides.
- Please note that I also have a personal life, so there may occasionally be delays in responding to your queries. And for that I apologize in advance. I will always do my best to respond promptly, additionally, my staff will assist you as well.
- As this is a partnership service, we do not take responsibility for long-term performance or operational changes beyond the initial consultation by RT and the first-time setup with our partner. At the time of creating this thread, the system has been working reliably for years. Our collaboration is focused on making it accessible to more people after thoroughly vetting that the system is fool-proof and actually delivers. Our commitment via RT is limited to the initial consultation and mentorship.

For extended service support, our partners will assign individual experts or mentors to assist you with any queries you may have.

RT will always ensure that clients onboarded through our organization are treated with professionalism and respect from our partner(s).

- By initiating your first consultation with us RT for this service, you automatically agree to all current and future TOS.

- These TOS may be changed, modified or updated at any time without prior notice. For major changes, everyone shall be personally informed.

Greetings, thank you for your interest in the service. Well, as mentioned in the thread, you don't have to be a trader to extract benefit from this system but it's better that you are well-versed in trading. And yes, you do qualify for a vouch copy, I will send the details over a DM and go over the consultation and we can get you started.

Following up on this. Unfortunately I cannot take part in the vouch copy/reviewal due to a $3500 cost required.

We've discussed escrow for the trial period, but still requires massive trust for the full process given this is an affiliation.

As much as I did not get the chance to trial the method, in theory everything presented be achieved and the maths makes sense.

OP is very professional and will take the time to explain to you in-depth any concerns.

However, with any trading platform and significant capital comes risk - do your own research.

Thank you, I appreciate the time you have generously provided to possibly review this system.

Regarding the costs involved, I did send you a follow-up, our payment plan is an option, with the first installment of $1,000 for the first month, followed by $625 for the remaining 4 months which can be paid from the profits made with the system. That is how most clients start or would prefer doing it unless they have the cash in hand, in which case, it's a different scenario.

As for the trust process, I do understand where you are coming from. But in my humble defense, we both are well-respected members of this community and the last thing I'd do is jeopardize that for a mere $1,000. As I said, this payment doesn't go to me or RT, so, once you have been onboarded by our partner during the onboarding call, feel free to release the amount to them directly as you'd be doing a vouch review. There is nothing to hide in regards to that from my end, so, I am keeping it transparent.

Regardless, I thank you once again for taking so much of your time to go through this. Please, do check our updated and redesigned Telegram Supergroup, that covers in-depth more about this system in general. More so than the Introduction document that was provided initially.

As we tend to remind prospective clients from time to time, not everyone is going to be sharing the profits they make and love to remain highly secretive. We don't blame them. Most love to stay humble and fly below the radar, but for the ones who do share openly to inspire others, we get an idea from that on how powerful such a system is.

Ask yourself this, if you had the opportunity to be making an extra $5,000 to $30,000 per month in pure profits, how would that change your current life in a positive way?

• Enlil Wolf • - October 8, 2025, 9:26 pm

Another day goes by and more clients continue to farm profits from their funded accounts while some get access to their first funded account in under 8 days. That's in less than 2 weeks - So, while you are waiting on the sidelines, people are making use of this system to farm for profits non-stop.

As we have mentioned before time & time again, even in our FAQs, this system is not reliant upon you knowing how to trade, or watching charts for hours. It's a complete system that only takes an hour or two to monitor if doing it on your own, or if going the 100% passive route - just sit back.

• Enlil Wolf • - October 10, 2025, 5:20 am

It is always a good thing for when our existing clients share their own profits & funded account proofs. We don't get involved in that to gateguard and only share fabricated proofs as many people like to do. We despise and hate that. All these clients are real people you'd be able to chat directly with once you become part of this community.

Vouch for Enlil Wolf , truly delivers on what he promises. His funded account service isn't just another EA gimmick, it's a complete, proven system that actually works. I've seen the results firsthand, transparent, consistent, and reliable. One of the few people in this space who genuinely knows what he's doing. I'm a trader myself and have been in the industry for 8+years profitably and i can tell you whether you're a veteran or newbie , you will benefit from this service, the amount of knowledge that you will receive within the community is already something that is worth, trading can be the hardest skill for one to master in this world, and i've traded with big names in the industry before and what Enlil Wolf has to offer actually falls into one of the categories of being successful while trading, being patient with your winners and inpatient with your losers, this EA service has the best foundation of what any trader can have, making money is just a plus, the knowledge in this is what will get you further in this industry, his approach is complete and proven. And the most important element of trading is implemented here to which is cutting losses. i love it, big vouch. I made the required investment to join the partner community, and once I became a member, I immediately got access to everything that comes with it. The onboarding was handled very professionally through a live video call, where we discussed my goals, vision, and what I was looking for. They provided clear guidance tailored to that conversation, i've personally seen the paid Discord community of over 2,200 members, and I can confirm it's completely legitimate. The company operates as an LLC based in the U.S, all the profit screenshots shared are from actual clients using the system not fabricated or exaggerated by RT or the partner company, i've also seen their YouTube channel and watched live client testimonials, and even spoken with a few existing members within the community, once you're in, you gain access to a personal member dashboard that includes video guides, tutorials, references, a strategy leaderboard, and a ton of useful resources, it's also beginner-friendly. Even if you're not a trader, the live support and personal mentor help you with setup, strategy, and any questions you might have.

Warsheep - October 15, 2025, 10:17 am

My first payout after not even a full month.

You dont need to know anything about trading until you get paid the first time(and you have to be unlucky at this point to even have to know anything), even when the part comes where you need knowledge a whole team of professionals will do mock interviews with you so you are ready.

To be fair I think the investment needed is too much for most. But if you can do it, its absolutely worth it. The risk is minimal, thanks to how the system is hedged, losing your investment isn't happening. The only time you'd be at risk is if a prop firm denies payout, which is super unlikely to happen with the chances of it happening being closer to 1%

One of the only methods I've ever seen where you dont have to do shit, just wait and invest. Its predictable, non risky, amazing 24/7 support. Its one of the methods that sounds too good to be true, im happy to have joined. It will not last forever but right now its going crazy good. As long as prop firms are kicking around, this system will keep going strong since it's not some exploit that will get patched. Predicted income for me after 2 months is around 15k monthly which is amazing.

Greetings, thank you for your interest.

- Yes, you understood correctly. Can 100% be setup in a passive way.

- Yes, FTMO can be used if it is available for you in your region.

- If you have joined our TG Supergroup, and referring to the amount mentioned in the Total investment Topic, Yes - that's the total setup cost for 4× $25,000 challenges and that amount can be slightly lower depending on the Prop firms that you start your challenges with (Challenge fees vary slightly between Prop firms). The startup cost can go even more lower if you do not hedge the $25k challenges or go with the absolute lowest $10k challenges sizes, but I don't recommend running this system in a non-hedged manner or doing the $10k challenge sizes if you are starting with a payment plan.

Well, if you run it in a non-hedged way, you are looking at approx. $2,000 to $2,500. Which I don't recommend. And if you do it the hedged way, 4 challenges of $10,000 - you are looking at approx. $2,750 to $3,300.

1. What would be the average payout if we did 4 challenges of $10,000 the hedged way.

2. Couldn't I just pay the membership fee each month with the payout made from the $10,000 challenges ?

1. It's hard to give an exact number, as you may have more funded accounts than the conservative range given. But keeping it conservative, I'd say a minimum range between $600 to $1,000 if you are running 4 challenges.

2. To start and join, no. For subsequent months after it for the balance, yes. That's how we recommend it, but it doesn't hurt to go into this with capital for 2 months at least, which gives you enough breathing room to have at least 2+ funded accounts to supplement and support the month payouts.

Thank you for your kind words and enthusiasm, Wilmer!

We truly appreciate your support and are excited to see continued positive feedback from our HF clients using the PropEdge system in the months and years ahead. At present, more than 100+ non-HF clients managing seven-figure funded accounts are achieving remarkable success with the PropEdge system. It is only a matter of time before our HF clients joins those ranks and becomes successful funded traders as well.

Now coming to your observation, we completely understand your concerns regarding the reputation of certain prop firms in general. It is a valid point and wise to be cautious when dealing with newer prop firms. The prop trading industry can sometimes appear daunting from the outside, particularly when a few newer firms engage in questionable practices but that doesn't mean the concept of prop firms started yesterday. They have been around since the 1980s and the most modern iteration of what we see now started since the early 2010s. As per our research and deep-dive into this subject, such perceptions often arose from frustrations rather than the broader reality. Many traders face challenges recovering their investments due to normal trading losses within the prop firms strict trading parameters. And even though denied payouts are a thing with newer prop firms, the majority of the negativity stems from the excessive losses one goes through with repeated failed challenges and with no proper way to recover their challenge fees.

As Marguerite de Navarre once said, "People pretend not to like grapes when the vines are too high for them to reach."

The reality is that reputable prop firms process withdrawals consistently, with many traders receiving payouts daily and frequently. At our community utilizing the PropEdge system, we choose to work only with well-established prop firms that have demonstrated a reliable track record of timely and consistent payouts over the years. In addition to this, we do periodic reviews of these prop firms to always stay updated and inform our clients accordingly on whom to avoid.

Our internal data, drawn from hundreds of active funded users, shows that payout rejection rates among these trusted prop firms remain below 1%. For more than six years, we have carefully verified which firms are dependable and transparent, ensuring our clients can trade and manage challenges with confidence while minimizing risk to their investment capital using our system.

The PropEdge system was specifically designed to reduce financial strain, enabling traders to handle prop firm challenges efficiently and sustainably without repeatedly losing challenge fees which is at the end of the day the major drawback of prop firms when attempting them normally.

We are confident that as more traders share their success stories, the value and reliability of our approach will become even clearer. If you would like to learn more about prop firms or the PropEdge system, please feel free to reach out. We would be delighted to provide further insights and guidance.

Thank you once again for your support, and we wish you continued success ahead.

Can't thank Wolf enough for the assistance with the process and his amazing professionalism! Firstly, thank you for your patience and understanding throughout this whole process. I am most impressed with this client as he didn't rely on the passive management and learned everything on his own which is commendable. So, huge respect to him and also goes to show, someone going into this with 0 knowledge also can make profits with this system easily as we provide the support & backing to operate this system easily.

Lastly, as he is a non-upgraded member here on HackForums, he wasn't allowed to upload his first payout screenshot which he shared with me so I can post it here with his permission. I am attaching it below, for everyone to see:

Just under a month, roughly 3 weeks into this, he went from not knowing anything to mastering this and earning his first payout and now on his road to securing more challenges & funded accounts. Congratulations and I look forward to more people joining and earning from this system.

So, above is from one of our more serious client who is currently having $2,000,000 in active funding across multiple Prop firms. So, let's do a quick math to shed some light into what can be done if someone is serious about this and doesn't deviate from the end goal and stays razor focused on the end-goal. This is what this system can generate for you at this level.

$\$2,000,000$ (Active Funding) $\times$ 2.5% every 14 days = \$50,000. The client gets to keep 80-90% of that profit, let's go with the minimum 80%.

-> $$50,000 \times 80\% = $40,000$ in net-profits every 14 days.

? Black Friday Deal ?

With the Black Friday Deal, these are the following benefits you would get as a new client ?

A few thoughts, with all due respect and good faith implied:

-The prices are damn high. Is it worth it? I can't know, but it cuts out a niche like me, who is genuinely interested but unfortunately isn't yet wealthy.

-I joined the Telegram channel. There are interesting posts, but they're all written by the admin, Aaron/Wolf. There are 212 members, which isn't a small number (assuming they're all real), but even all the feedback is just screenshots posted by the admin (unless I missed them).

-There's talk of thousands of satisfied traders, but where are they? Are they all on Discord? Is Discord accessible even to those who aren't yet registered, at least for some channels?

-It's well known that prop firms stop paying sometimes. How do you manage this?

In conclusion, returning to the first point:

-Always assuming it's all true, this is an incredibly scalable business. But the prices are truly out of this world, at least for the initial phase. It would be interesting, at least for those of good will, if we could start with small amounts, gradually increasing the cost of the various services. A sort of installment plan, in a sense. Personally, I'd even be willing to reinvest all the profits, if what's being advertised were to be true.

Just to give you an example, the price of "The Autonomous Addon" alone, which is what I'm interested in, is currently high (but still affordable). Imagine the rest.

Thank you so much for your attention.

So, I guess I should do another review after being in this for some months. Until now I got paid out exactly 15,132 USD. So I'm nearly on break even.

What can I say ?

The Team is pretty good in their response times and helpfulness bringing people together having the same problems with prop firms. The team also constantly monitors payout rates of the prop firms to check which to use currently. I joined one which started to make problems about VPS usage, one week later the prop firm received a warning in the list of useful firms. So the small amount of work you really have to do (creating accounts) is even prechecked for you.

There are around 2000 users on the system. The team which provides full automation is even better than the regular team, super helpful and caring.

Stats:

Currently on 400k funded accounts. Payouts coming in weekly and ranging around 2-4k biweekly. 500k funded should be done soon.

Can still recommend. Also I did this review just because it massively pisses me off how nobody reviews anything after long term usage.

And yep this system is for people who already have more than enough money. I invested around 30k with half being 100% safe. The other half is invested into the system itself and into fees.

Firstly - Thank you for asking, I am doing wonderful. I hope you are doing equally splendid during this holiday season.

And noted, don't worry, I take all of your questions in good faith and they are genuine questions nevertheless.

- The prices are 'damn high' - yes. But is it worth it? - Absolutely. You do not have to be wealthy to make the most of this system. However, depending on your financial background, we can suggest, how best to approach the system. But do understand, that it is approachable for people from any financial background. You do not have to be a wealthy person to get started with this, this has never been promoted as such because of our countless client feedbacks who started small.

- The Telegram channel is the intermediate Channel maintained by Resurgence Trading and most if not majority of the posts are by me, the owner & admin: Aaron (Wolf). However, the community you'll be joining after becoming a member is a separate private community with over 2k+ clients using it. As for the screenshots of profits & payouts, I have mentioned this before, and I shall do it again for better exposure & clarification for future members. Screenshots of payouts are from the clients themselves that has been posted inside the private community. What you see are screenshots with their names, they are not simply profits or funded accounts screenshots posted by me — they all have the names of who posted it on their own 'free will' within that community. I hate fabrication and I absolutely detest lies hence, no proof provided by me would be 'just by me' - we have enough people posting 'screenshots of earnings' with no context of who it belongs to or from where they got it. Ours comes from our clients - end of discussion.

- Yes, because if you have gone through the Supergroup in great-depth which I assume you have, you will understand it's a partner service. They (members) are all on the private Discord which is given access to 'paid members' only. We are not inviting just free members to come and window-shop & collect experience feedback from existing clients. So, no, it's not accessible to non-registered members. Becoming part of that exclusive community is one of the membership benefits that you are paying for.

- As highlighted in the recent review on HF. Our team monitors Prop Firms actively, we update our clients accordingly on which Prop Firms we can work with and which we don't. Most old Prop Firms that have been around for years now, still continue to payout without any issues. It's only the newer ones, that are questionable with payouts 'sometimes'. However, its a small minority, and with our active monitoring, its easy to avoid the bad ones.

- Lastly, prices are not set by me, sadly. It's a partner service. For membership, it's $3500 / year and +$2000 (One time) for the management addon with $350 / month for our team handling everything for you if you get the extra addon. So, we do provide a payment plan but this is custom tailored to you based on the membership tier you're going for. Had this been solely my service, I'd have factored in flexibility as much as I could but I am limited with options on what I can do. However, a payment plan can be provided. But it is something that can be discussed which is why we have the first consultation chat with me, after which I can draft up the appropriate response on what type of payment plan works for you.

Hope that answers all for you.

His funded account service isn't just another EA gimmick, it's a complete, proven system that actually works. I've seen the results firsthand, transparent, consistent, and reliable. One of the few people in this space who genuinely knows what he's doing. I'm a trader myself and have been in the industry for 8+years profitably and i can tell you whether you're a veteran or newbie , you will benefit from this service, the amount of knowledge that you will receive within the community is already something that is worth, trading can be the hardest skill for one to master in this world, and i've traded with big names in the industry before and what Enlil Wolf has to offer actually falls into one of the categories of being successful while trading, being patient with your winners and impatient with your losers, this EA service has the best foundation of what any trader can have, making money is just a plus, the knowledge in this is what will get you further in this industry, his approach is complete and proven. And the most important element of trading is implemented here to which is cutting losses. i love it, big vouch. I made the required investment to join the partner community, and once I became a member, I immediately got access to everything that comes with it. The onboarding was handled very professionally through a live video call, where we discussed my goals, vision, and what I was looking for. They provided clear guidance tailored to that conversation, i've personally seen the paid Discord community of over 2,200 members, and I can confirm it's completely legitimate. The company operates as an LLC based in the U.S, all the profit screenshots shared are from actual clients using the system not fabricated or exaggerated by RT or the partner company, i've also seen their YouTube channel and watched live client testimonials, and even spoken with a few existing members within the community, once you're in, you gain access to a personal member dashboard that includes video guides, tutorials, references, a strategy leaderboard, and a ton of useful resources, it's also beginner-friendly. Even if you're not a trader, the live support and personal mentor help you with setup, strategy, and any questions you might have.

This requires 0 knowledge about trading, as this system is more akin to a business investment to setup everything. After that it is just a matter of letting the system do its thing over time. So, you don't need to know anything about trading, it's quite easy to follow everything if you are doing it on your own as we provide tutorials, video tutorial, personal 1-on-1 support and live support during US office hours. And as for those who gets our passive addon, its 100% passive. Our team handles everything.

How it works? PM pls

.Alpha. - July 15, 2026, 9:48 pm

Hey everyone, wanted to touch base on my experience with this project. It's officially been just over 7 months in the works now and I think It's time for an update, also after receiving messages throughout this time asking about my experiences.

First off, this is not a get rich quick thing. It will take many months, if not a year to see profits, depending on luck and scale.

My costs:

- I paid 11k for the perpetual license (20 licenses, also includes one time fee for management service, Wolf does not retain this)
- 2K to Wolf for facilitating it (I get 3 bonus licenses) (he was flexible on this payment, I paid it over 5 months)
- 500/month for someone to manage it (I got 6 months free)
- $45/month each VPS (I scaled to 2 VPS 3 months ago), so $7 \times 45 + 3 \times 45 = $450$
- $20/month copier. $20 \times 7 = $140$
- $18,930 on prop firm challenge fees (and still counting)

Total so far: $11000 + 2000 + 500 + 450 + 140 + 18930 = 33020$

The good (people only care about profit/ROI, nobody cares about the community/onboarding so long as they get money, so I won't talk about those):

- I was able to hedge some money back. $3000 in fees, approximately 60-70% of my fees spent were hedged back. I then began to switch to challenges with no hedging as the numbers/ROI were better, hence why such a big difference in actual spent vs hedged.
- I received ~$12400 in payouts.
- Some prop fees were refunded after x payouts, so realistically my cost basis is a bit lower.
- It's fully automated, I have not had to do anything apart from buy new accounts.
- I do have funded prop firm accounts now so there is potential for future scaling. I have received 550k in funded accounts, with 300k active still. Some accounts failed without a payout, my longest one got 5 payouts before failing.
- I do appreciate Wolf answering questions and doubts, he is great at that and it seems like the system works well for him, as well as many others. He is also quite professional with his business.
- It is a legitimate business venture tied with a legal contract.

The bad:

- It requires A LOT of capital. Thankfully I could sustain all of this. I did not fully scale for the first few months and was running 5 ish accounts. Then I scaled to 10, and now I run between 15-20.
- Hedging is not perfect. It's advertised that your hedging money is not at risk, but this is not the case for me. I even opted to overhedge, and was consistently returning approx 70% of challenge fees.
- Luck is involved. They advertise 26% pass rate, but I have only achieved 15% to date. This has only recently gone up, at one point I was at 7% pass rate after 30 challenges. I've run about 75 total now. If you had more time and actually managed it yourself (understanding market conditions and adjusting your strategies), your results may be better.
- They say it is algorithmic trading, which is true, but also with added randomness, so this effectively means no matter how good their EAs are, your results will differ. This is to prevent copy trading bans.
- Some do require interviews, so you will need to have trading knowledge. Prop firms look for reasons to deny your payouts. I have not had encountered any yet.
- Most of the coaches/staff are not helpful. They just tell you it's a numbers game and to keep buying more challenges. That works when you are in the money, not when you are already 30k in the hole.

- Factoring in all fees, I am still down 20k.

So that sums up my results over 7 months. I am still net negative in my challenges + costs, but slowing recouping them. I do plan to keep this going at least for a few months given that I am just recycling payout funds, but it definitely took a long way to get here. My progress could have been achieved faster had I scaled up right at the beginning, but it was not something I can afford. I think I will break even/be profitable at the 1-1.5 year mark. The majority of my payouts did take place in the past 3 months, and just today got a 3.5k one.

I did switch after 3 months to not hedge, since they did analysis and that not hedging yields better ROI. Hedging just helps with managing risk and loss. You lose less if a challenge fails, but you also lose money if a challenge passes and your payouts will need to cover that. Had I stuck with hedging, maybe I would be less in the hole. I don't know if my net loss would be lower.

Do I recommend it? It depends on your situation. If you have lots of money (20, 30k to dump in), I think there is potential. This can scale and work in the long run. There are hundreds, if not thousands of people who have. But there are also many stories that don't turn out well and people give up (it may have worked out, but can you blame them being down 5 figures?). If you only have just enough for a license + a few challenges, it'll be very difficult and your renewal/other fees will eat away at your profits. I would say if you have anything less than 10-15k, this may not be for you, even if you opt for the cheapest one. I landed somewhere in the middle. You can opt to manage everything yourself ($2000 less one time, and no monthly management fee), but I opted to be fully autopilot.

Note, this is all speaking from my experience and what I've learned about the system and community. As I said, it does show promise. But in my opinion this is not the right place to advertise it as many users do not have that sort of capital and have much higher expectations.

Feel free to DM with any questions.

(Jul 15, 2026 09:48 PM).Alpha. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Hey everyone, wanted to touch base on my experience with this project. It's officially been just over 7 months in the works now and I think It's time for an update, also after receiving messages throughout this time asking about my experiences.

First off, this is not a get rich quick thing. It will take many months, if not a year to see profits, depending on luck and scale.

My costs:

- I paid 11k for the perpetual license (20 licenses, also includes one time fee for management service, Wolf does not retain this)
- 2K to Wolf for facilitating it (I get 3 bonus licenses) (he was flexible on this payment, I paid it over 5 months)
- 500/month for someone to manage it (I got 6 months free)
- $45/month each VPS (I scaled to 2 VPS 3 months ago), so $7 \times 45 + 3 \times 45 = $450$
- $20/month copier. $20 \times 7 = $140$
- $18,930 on prop firm challenge fees (and still counting)

Total so far: $11000 + 2000 + 500 + 450 + 140 + 18930 = 33020$

The good (people only care about profit/ROI, nobody cares about the community/onboarding so long as they get money, so I won't talk about those):

- I was able to hedge some money back. $3000 in fees, approximately 60-70% of my fees spent were hedged back. I then began to switch to challenges with no hedging as the numbers/ROI were better, hence why such a big difference in actual spent vs hedged.
- I received ~$12400 in payouts.
- Some prop fees were refunded after x payouts, so realistically my cost basis is a bit lower.
- It's fully automated, I have not had to do anything apart from buy new accounts.
- I do have funded prop firm accounts now so there is potential for future scaling. I have received 550k in funded accounts, with 300k active still. Some accounts failed without a payout, my longest one got 5 payouts before failing.
- I do appreciate Wolf answering questions and doubts, he is great at that and it seems like the system works well for him, as well as many others. He is also quite professional with his business.
- It is a legitimate business venture tied with a legal contract.

The bad:

- It requires A LOT of capital. Thankfully I could sustain all of this. I did not fully scale for the first few months and was running 5 ish accounts. Then I scaled to 10, and now I run between 15-20.
- Hedging is not perfect. It's advertised that your hedging money is not at risk, but this is not the case for me. I even opted to overhedge, and was consistently returning approx 70% of challenge fees.
- Luck is involved. They advertise 26% pass rate, but I have only achieved 15% to date. This has only recently gone up, at one point I was at 7% pass rate after 30 challenges. I've run about 75 total now. If you had more time and actually managed it yourself (understanding market conditions and adjusting your strategies), your results may be better.
- They say it is algorithmic trading, which is true, but also with added randomness, so this effectively means no matter how good their EAs are, your results will differ. This is to prevent copy trading bans.
- Some do require interviews, so you will need to have trading knowledge. Prop firms look for reasons to deny your payouts. I have not had encountered any yet.
- Most of the coaches/staff are not helpful. They just tell you it's a numbers game and to keep buying more challenges. That works when you are in the money, not when you are already 30k in the hole.
- Factoring in all fees, I am still down 20k.

So that sums up my results over 7 months. I am still net negative in my challenges + costs, but slowing recouping them. I do plan to keep this going at least for a few months given that I am just recycling payout funds, but it definitely took a long way to get here. My progress could have been achieved faster had I scaled up right at the beginning, but it was not something I can afford. I think I will break even/be profitable at the 1-1.5 year mark. The majority of my payouts did take place in the past 3 months, and just today got a 3.5k one.

Thanks for your very clear and detailed comment. Fortunately, I didn't join this project, otherwise I wouldn't have been able to properly manage all those thousands of dollars in "drawdowns." It requires far, far too much capital. I can confirm, however, that Wolf was always available and professional in all the explanations I requested over time. Nothing to complain about.

Sorry that you are still down $20k from doing this method.

But thank you for leaving your honest feedback.

Most people would not leave the review due to embarrassment or simply don't want to do others a favor to warn people about this.

The whole method can make anyone skeptical, was discussing with the OP last year and his answers just made me more skeptical.

- 1) He tells me the success of this method is not reliant on the trade to be successful
- 2) He says his refund criteria is if you fail 10 consecutive challenges in a row, each challenge is $625. So which means someone can keep failing 9 challenges in a row and still has to suck it up and take the losses non-stop.

There were bunch of other answers he gave which was not logical.

He then replies "Ah, out of all my clients, you are the only one who fails to grasp it." Obviously, he meant I'm one of the only ones who didn't take the bait.

I wouldn't be surprised if most of his earnings from this method is from being the middleman and taking the commission like you have paid $2k to him.

If this method was truly 'MAKE $5K to $50K+ MONTHLY' like his thread title suggests, he wouldn't have to borrow a 4 digit sum from Kyo in this thread:

That is exactly what I thought when I first saw that topic for the first time.

Not much to be embarrassed about. It's my honest feedback, and I hope to give others more insight on it.

- 1) The reason this is stated is because of hedging, which I find is not accurate. I consistently got 60-70% challenge fees hedged, even when aiming to over hedge at 1.25x
- 2) This refund criteria is true. Things looked good at first, I had 25% pass rate (2 passes out of 8 challenges). Then I went on a dry streak where I failed 21 in a row. And 3 coaches + Wolf told me to trust the process. It was not until I spoke to another one who spent 2 hours walking through with me picking strategies and being more choosey, and potentially overhedging more in bad market conditions.

Like I said, I understand this feedback likely kills people on here and HF is honestly not the target audience. This is definitely a high risk, moderate/high reward once you're scaled, but most people don't have that capital nor patience to do it.

I did 50k challenges first, each one cost between $200-300.
