Marvel Rivals Launches On PS4 In Season 4, Two New Heroes Confirmed

NetEase has released the Season 4 trailer for Marvel Rivals, which confirms Daredevil and Angela as the two new playable characters confirmed for the game. The trailer also reveals Marvel Rivals is coming to PlayStation 4. Season 4: Heart of the Dragon arrives on September 12, and the new season will introduce the two new heroes. Daredevil, The Man Without Fear, is the most notable of the pair, but some players might also be familiar with Angela, who is a powerful Asgardian goddess and the firstborn daughter of Odin and Freyja. The Season 4 trailer above shows what the two heroes will look like in the game, with Angela and Daredevil at odds and battling each other. Of course, their fight isn't the main focus of the season. According to the brief story summary provided by NetEase, Iron Fist and Doctor Doom will also play a major role in the narrative for Season 4: Heart of the Dragon. Continue Reading at GameSpot

Been weirdly excited for the new seasons coming out for Marvel Rivals. Very thankful to see a new Vanguard coming out since the game is extremely saturated towards duelists

Heart of the Dragon looks like it's going to be a packed season. With Iron Fist and Doctor Doom in the mix, the story feels even bigger.

New heroes bring unique abilities to fights.
This encourages experimenting with different tactics.

It's cool to see that they went backwards as far as the platforms they released it on go. This isn't my kind of game, but I know it had a lot of popularity upon release and maybe still does. I truly don't know. Glad to see they're still pumping things out for it though.

Nice seeing games support older systems, especially with how expensive new ones are.

Huh, ps4 is interesting. I assumed that it would be left in the dust by now since ps5 is here.

I honestly thought this game was dead

I've tried playing this game on PS5 but I have to say at first it's very overwhelming. Kinda like LoL where it plays a huge part into known what hero does what and how you can counter it. Needless to say I was (and still am) terrible at the game. :)

It's very nice seeing that! So many companies try to phase out older system - take Apple for example phasing out old phones every year

Makes sense. People will buy anyways.

I can't imagine anyone being able to play competitively on a PS4. It's so slow compared to newer gen consoles and PCs.

Weird to see them still supporting the Ps4 these days since everything is pretty much End of Life for the console these days. Unless you are jailbreaking it might I add.

Like PS5 is scheduled for like 2027, and they are still working on a console that stopped being produced like 5-6 years ago.

I remember when a console would last around 10+ years. Good times. I cant lie the world is just to driven by money now.

Surprised there's still no Xbox version thoug feels like they're leaving a load of fans out

DAL-SHA - October 7, 2025, 12:55 am

Cool to see Daredevil and Angela join Marvel Rivals on PS4. Adds fresh excitement for fans with new stories and battles.
