To help someone in need who may not be able to afford hefty development fees etc, I am offering a couple hours of top-notch full stack web development experience to a few members here, simply because I care and want to help.. I've been doing everything related to websites for over 17 years.. so, hit me up! <3

I don't need anything and will allow others to gain from your kind services. If anyone is looking for project ideas, the internet needs more interesting website menus. The common react/tailwind styling is everywhere these days if you look for it.

I could take a look at this and see if you could improve anything with something that I've been working on :D Seems interesting! ha

Any interest in helping me with some SQL for some software for my company. I can explain more, I don't think it would be hard for a skilled developer, but I am lost in the sauce when I try and do it myself.

Had a PHP dev working for me back in 2020, he passed away from covid. So, I have a company program that I'm still using that I can't make any updates too... We are now looking to completely rebuild.
