I always think back to a comment someone made to me years ago about an unsolved murder. They specifically said that Joe (fake name) dealt coke, and Frank sold weed. Apparently Joe then sent a hit out after non-payment for a long time. But Frank wasn't home, his son was. Two shots to the back of the head and within 6 months, Joe commits suicide when the cops start asking him questions.

I have sat on this for so long. Still not sure what to do or say but I could reach out to the person who told me.

A lot of the story lined up with other unrelated rumors about Joe/Frank
