Thread: My assessment and revealing of Charlie Kirk's suspect

zanzibar1 - September 11, 2025, 8:51 pm

The information I have gathered must be credible, the proof I had on FB has been taken down.

So I would like to present HF with my case as to who the suspect is.

Update: I was wrong, and so was the FBI - Killer is confirmed as Tyler Robinson.

I have redacted sensitive information, I'm not claiming this is 100% who did it (can't reveal publicly), but well... Make your own assumptions, I might be right, I might be wrong.

I have sent this information off to the FBI.

Sorry but that is the wrong person... you ain't getting $100,000 tonight.

Were you right? Now that the killer is arrested.

Why do you feel the need to write this, like I was so sure? I only based it from what the FBI disclosed about the potential suspect.

It's not a matter whether I was right or wrong, the FBI was clearly way off and got it incredibly wrong, I based my findings based on who they believed it was lol.

Yes, I was wrong based on the incorrect FBI information supplied, but this only shows the ineptitude of the FBI.

It's funny how you responded to me acting like I am the dumbass... LMAO!!

We saw this happen on reddit many years ago with the Boston bombers:

> People were 100% certain they found the bomber(s)

> They were wrong.

People need to be really careful about false accusations. It's good you censored it all from the start - nice job.

Regardless of whether someone is 99% confident or 1% sure... Don't release suspect names on forums/sites/socials! I respect you for knowing better and it worked out well because you would've targeted an innocent person otherwise.

Well I followed the initial FBI suspect, but turns out that was completely wrong, FBI sources right..

The whole thing is a shit show, tired of conspiracy theories too, makes my brain bleed.
