Haven't played in ages since beta. I recall a lot of shenanigans early, but then just stopped I guess.

I played it a lot on release, but then it just got boring due to how poorly optimized it was. The alternative was nice, though being a competitive H1Z1 player, nothing will ever beat that game when it comes down to battle royale.

Been playing since 2019. Don't see myself stopping. Only reason I'd stop is these gay ass kpop collabs infesting the loading lobby with unmutable music.

I believe I tried it one time during a free weekend or something yearsss back and it felt super clunky. Like with most BRs, it was also overwhelming to try and pick up on everything so that alongside how the game felt, I was off real quick and never looked back lol. Apex Legends is the BR I rock with.
