Figured I'd drop something light for the Lounge — what's everyone been up to outside of HF?

Could be work, side hustles, gaming, gym, new tech, random hobbies, or just daily life. Personally I've been [insert your own — ex: grinding through a new project, testing AI tools, bingeing some games, etc.].

Always curious to see what other members do outside of the usual forum topics. Drop your updates, maybe even something random or funny that happened this week.

I am few months in to taking my few years of hobby coding and tinkering and building something to hopefully make a business.

I have been battling with the thought though that I am turning what was a getaway into a potential job. But I already really hate my day job, so fuck it lol.
