Thread: Automated System Making \$5K+/Month Pass Prop Challenges, Scales Live Accounts

SwiftTrade - October 2, 2025, 12:22 pm

Hey HF,

After years of development and real-world testing, I'm releasing a trading system that's been built specifically for two goals and coded by me:

Passing prop firm evaluations.

Scaling capital in live accounts with discipline and consistency.

I have used this at my own benefit managing a prop firm passing service, but due to lack of time and personal changes (purchased a second home and now am in need of additional revenue) i have decided to come here and sell for a maximum slots of 25 people my EA.

What Is This Exactly? ?

This is what's known as an Expert Advisor (EA), basically, a fully automated trading bot that runs on MetaTrader 5.

You load it onto your chart, configure it with the provided settings, and it will handle all entries and exits automatically, based on a predefined logic.

Think of it like a personal trading assistant that executes only when specific high-probability market conditions are met. No need to sit at the screen or manually trade, just keep it running and let the system do the work.

This isn't some recycled indicator combo. This is a fully automated trading system designed to operate on both prop firm evaluations and live funded accounts. It's built around a combination of strategies and indicators that have been extensively tested and refined. Not just something thrown together overnight. The system is coded to recognize specific high-probability conditions during key moments in the market and execute trades automatically based on those setups.

It's reliable, consistent, and already delivering strong results.

This is a professional-grade Expert Advisor (EA) for MetaTrader 5 (MT5), programmed to:

Run 100% automatically (no manual entry required)

Execute based on a mix of tested indicators and timing-based conditions

Handle both prop firm evaluations and live capital growth

Be flexible enough to run multiple setups per instrument per day

It's not a repackaged trend-following script or some Martingale nonsense. The code is the result of over 12 months of iteration and refinement through real-time and historical testing.

What You Need:

To get started, you'll need:

A VPS

MetaTrader 5 installed

Internet connection

Either a live account or prop firm evaluation

A small amount of time every 2 weeks to re-optimize your settings
Basic knowledge of how to load an EA and set files and optimise (I'll guide you if needed and help you from start to end)

What You'll Receive:

When you join, you'll get:

The full system (EX5 file)

Sample set files to begin testing or live trading

Free lifetime updates — I'm constantly improving the logic, and coding new stuff

Support to help with installation and setup

Quick Note on Optimization:

Although the bot runs completely hands-off once live, this is not a set-it-and-forget-it forever system.

Markets change, and any strategy worth using needs to adjust accordingly.

I recommend re-optimizing your setups every 2 weeks, ideally on weekends, so you start each Monday with clean, updated conditions.

That small effort is what keeps this system effective and ahead of the curve.

Price:

$1800 one-time

No subscriptions, no hidden fees. Just one price for the full system + future updates.

After each slot sold, I'll increase the price.

Q&A:

Q: Can I use this to pass prop firm challenges?

A: Yes this system is already being used for exactly that purpose.

Q: Can I use it on a live account too?

A: Absolutely. It performs well across both environments when used correctly.

Q: How many trades per day does it take?

A: It depends on how many setups you run. You can configure multiple sets across different instruments and times.

Q: Do I have to monitor it all day?

A: No it's fully automated. Just check in occasionally and re-optimize every couple of weeks.

Q: Is this some copy-paste strategy?

A: Not at all. It's a fully custom-coded tool, built from scratch with logic based on what actually works — not hype.

Q: Will it work on stocks?

A: It's designed for forex and indices, where structure and timing are consistent. Not recommended for equities.

Bonus — Upcoming EA Preview

As a buyer, you'll also get my next project: a fast-reaction system designed for short timeframes. It's still in the testing phase, which has been for 2 months now (on various prop accounts and on a 10k real live acc), but currently showing solid performance.

Slots sold: 2/25

I've decided to showcase the 10k account i started live. I added 100k real funds as well. Take note that august was testing phase of the new EA i was creating and that was the negative drawdown. Since september, i have plugged all EAs after careful testing. Everything before september was testing i did with real funds to make sure my coding worked.

I have already started using the EA and I've already started to see profitable trades coming in. I will say that there is a bit of a learning curve when you get started, especially if you haven't used mt5 before, but OP has been extremely helpful in setting everything up. What sets this apart from other EAs/auto-traders is that it aims to adapt to market conditions and doesn't use one static strategy (which almost always fail).

While the backtests look great, I can't say much about the overall medium-long term performance since I just started this so I will update my post once I pass my first prop firm challenge

What about EA detection by prop firms ? Have you ever got banned/restricted ? Is there a risk that can happen?

0 risk. There is only a very few that actually have a rule against EAs. I have never from all the prop firms i have been funded been told anything. Nor from all the people ive passed their prop firms either.

Thank you!

By the way, the new system that ive built is now fully working after all the testing and will be given to the purchasers as well. It is built around a refined intraday logic that combines multiple proven filters to time entries with precision and intent, not noise.

? Trades during specific, backtested windows aligned with market momentum

? Uses a combination of trend and volatility filters to avoid weak setups

? Built-in dynamic risk tools (trail, breakeven, basket handling, etc.) to adapt in real time

? Optimized for fast markets, especially during US session conditions

? Not your average crossover system

Testing results so far have been impressive

I have decided to add the myfxbook in this post to follow my REAL FUNDED account. Started with 10k, once hit 15k in 4 weeks, i decided to put in 100k. Currently at 126k. Been fully transparent. Thanks.

SwiftTrade - October 20, 2025, 3:16 pm

Everyone here will promise you you'll make thousands or hundreds from their methods. None will proof to you with live daily results of actual money being made. Im live proofing it with real funds.

I've seen people here buy methods that will make none other than the OP real money.

I'd like to see anyone here so confident in their work, that they will actually throw 100k real funds to prove their method.

I could sell this for more than 10k because i know what its worth, and I had decided to start small giving a chance to those who trust the chance of getting a real working Bot that will get you funded and trade ur live money for you.

Price has been set to fit the value this EA can deliver

Thank you.

Posting update on profits:

Sheamus - October 31, 2025, 3:51 am

Update from my last post:

Performance has been well, although I lost a 50k acc as it hit the drawdown. However, I did pass phase 1 of my 100k acc on a different prop firm in only one week lol (which is insane), now looking to pass phase 2.

Will update this thread once I pass phase 2 and move onto becoming a funded trader

Overall 5 purchases have been done. Price increased.

Ive also started developing a new bot completely coded with python and automatically decides based as well on machine learning

Ive splitted my live account wkth 100k into several 20ks + main now on 80k as i will be performing tests. I am also trying to figure settings for setting up on currencies.

Proof it works:

Update for the month.

fighterchip - December 12, 2025, 8:33 am

Hello everyone!

This is my review after about 14 days of purchase.

The first thing worth mentioning is how helpful the seller is. It's not like they just throw the files at you and tell you to figure it out yourself. I'm a complete beginner with MT5 and EA, and the seller advised me and walked me through the installation, optimization, and selection of the appropriate settings, all through 1-on-1 calls. Even after that, he doesn't tell you that you understand it now and it's up to you. He is always willing to help and answer any questions, and if you connect another PROP FIRM account, he will check through VPS what settings you have selected and, if necessary, select different ones or perform optimization again.

Let's look at the EA results: Let's be honest, this is not a get-rich-quick scheme.

This is a consistent, perfectly timed, and prepared system that looks for the perfect conditions to execute a trade and make a profit. Not a single trade executed by the system has been a loss. Once every two weeks, you'll find an hour on the weekend to re-optimize the system. This is the perfect solution for almost automatic "no-work" earnings.

As soon as I hit 10% profit on both accounts, I will post results here.

Not trying to hate, but there are some serious concerns here.

Selling an EA marketed specifically for prop firm passing is already a red flag. Prop firms actively modify spreads, execution, slippage, and risk rules to detect and neutralize automated systems. Anything that "passes consistently" is either exploiting a temporary condition, extremely low frequency, or heavily curve-fit.

The requirement to re-optimize every two weeks is another issue. That usually indicates parameter sensitivity, not robustness. A system that needs constant retuning is vulnerable the moment market structure shifts — especially under prop firm conditions.

You're also distributing EX5 only, which means buyers can't audit risk logic, position sizing, or confirm there's no recovery, grid, or hidden averaging behavior. That's a big ask at $1.8k.

Myfxbook alone isn't meaningful proof. A single account with mixed testing periods, capital additions, and multiple EAs doesn't demonstrate long-term expectancy or survivability across different brokers and prop environments.

Finally, if this EA genuinely passes firms and scales live capital reliably, the incentive would be to deploy private or partner capital — not sell limited "slots" on a forum. Public EA sales are usually an exit, not an expansion.

Could it work short-term? Maybe.

Does anything here suggest a durable, non-fragile edge? Not really.

Just my take.

Hello mate, im currently managing privately funds of clients and i earn 20% of their profits made. I do manage funds but only funds >20k, else not worth my time. Current AuM are 600k. I dont do props myself anymore, i did at the beg of the year to extract additional income and thats it.

As i said i sell this because of wanting extra cash. I dont have to sell this. Im giving the opportunity to buy something worth when 90% of sellers here sell crap. You're 100% right to be skeptical, there's too much trash in the market. But this isn't one of those. It's not marketed as "magic," just flexible, tested, and backed by real use.

You're right that some prop firms actively implement filters (spread widening, latency rules, etc.) to catch EAs. That's exactly why this EA was built to adapt — it's not a martingale, grid, or arbitrage bot. It's a level-based strategy with dynamic risk and execution filters coded in to avoid overexposure and pass under realistic trading conditions. And yes, it has passed multiple prop firms, even those with tougher execution environments.

Re-optimization every 2 weeks:

This isn't about weakness, it's about staying responsive. Market conditions evolve (especially with macro cycles or volatility shifts), so the bot is designed to be re-optimized to stay relevant, not to chase short-term anomalies. Most institutional systems do this too, it's just called parameter rotation or regime adaptation. Robust doesn't mean rigid.

EX5 only:

Totally fair that people want transparency, but protecting IP is important too. I send updates when done + help you all the way on parameters and settings.

I'm Stanley HF's helper bot. The OP (original poster) of this thread wants everyone to see this page and has elected to bump it to the top of the showthread listing. Since HF doesn't want a ton of LQP (Low Quality Posts) this is the best method of bumping your content. There is a small ?yte fee for each bump. Any OP can bump any of their threads on HF from the linked icon on the top of their first post.

If you haven't already read the first post of this thread we encourage you to do so.
