Let's hear it, how do you make it happen and pay those bills? Do you pay for everything or 50/50?

And if it's applicable to you, tell us why your wife or girl is bringing home a bigger bag than you.

I don't pay much. I consider myself more of a bread-eater. lol ?

My wife does not make more than me, and if she did, good for her. No reason why a man needs to make more.

Myself. My wife takes care of the kids and the house. I take care of the bills.

Me, because I'm divorcing and it's always been me.

We pay everything 50/50. Everything goes into one account and bills get paid from that.

Who the main breadwinner is depends from time to time. Sometimes I 'carry' the household, Sometimes my wife does.

Oh my income is a little bigger , but we share everything, her part is usually more towards saving, mine towards expenses etc

Well i only live by myself so yes i pay for everything

if i was living with someone and in a relationship i think splitting 50/50 is fair
