Thread: Apex Legends

I have over 6,000 hours of experience in Apex Legends.
It had me wondering after I joined HF: Does anyone else play it?

If you do, what's your rank?
And what is your take on the game, because I genuinely believe it's slowly dying.

I haven't played it since the PS4 days, it would crash every 2 matches so I ended up quitting. I was going for the Wraith knife too :(
It's okay though, I'm completely over battle royale games.

Yeah, it's more or less over for me as well.
Occasionally, I will play it a lot for a week, then I won't touch it for a few months again.

But it is, and has been, the only game I've been playing for years now.
I feel guilty every time I play video games, when there is money to be made, to be honest, haha

Yeah, I kinda hope the genre just dies out completely at this point lol

Yeah, battle royales are just so boring now (for me at least).

Played Apex because a friend told me its a must have, after 3 hours I decided that game isnt for me and deinstalled it again, was fun only because I had my friend trying to desperately teach me something lol

Yeah, there are better things to invest time into
However, every now and then, it is enjoyable

I can imagine that the game is super difficult for a beginner.
Movement, aiming, and understanding the strategy of the game.

Yeah, I would probably say fugg that too.
Also full of cheaters

Movement and Aim wasnt that hard for me, as it was really similar to titanfall and had some experience in aiming through my long lasting fortnite grind, it was just the fact that i joined in got fucked in 30 seconds because somehow everyone knew exactly were good stuff was and i was instantly dead ;(

Yeah, I wouldn't recommend the game for any beginners, haha
Actually, I wouldnt recommend the game to anyone

Yep. I tried playing CS after playing Apex for years.
The momentum is so different, just had to let CS go.

Imagine you feel the same way, the other way around, haha

Yeah, even for battle royale games there are better options, but the genre is very slowly dying anyway :)

I played it for a while some years ago when pubg was pissing me off. Fun game and I get why it's likeable but I just couldn't get my fix from it though.

Yeah, some games give you " that " feeling, some don't.

I remember playing it when it first came out. It was a breath of fresh air. Never got around to putting in so many hours like you though :) That's impressive.

Yeah, well, I definitely put too many hours in it, but I was chasing a pro career.
You should give it another try then :)

Not really playing Apex anymore.
My friends stopped playing too.
