

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Oldest Movie You've Watched

oRequiem - October 2, 2025, 5:56 pm

What is the oldest movie that you have ever watched?

It's difficult even for me to know which one was the oldest. It must have been a 1980's era movie. If not then, probably Heat (1993)

JoshAllen - October 2, 2025, 6:57 pm

So many from the 70's. There are a couple from the 60's like 2001 space oddysey.

Pimping - October 2, 2025, 7:43 pm

Scarface and Wargames are the oldest movies ive watched but honestly for the early 80s the quality is great on both

oRequiem - October 2, 2025, 7:51 pm

(Oct 2, 2025 06:57 PM)Tyler™ Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) So many from the 70's. There are a couple from the 60's like 2001 space oddysey.

Now that I think of it, it was probably spaceballs, I think that was a super old movie.

The Pact - October 3, 2025, 10:28 am

None of these are old movies? ?

I thought this was going to be like The Birth of a Nation, Singing in the Rain, The Wizard of OZ. Rebel Without A Cause, The Battleship Potemkin.

JoshAllen - October 3, 2025, 10:30 am

(Oct 3, 2025 10:28 AM)The Pact Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) None of these are old movies? ?

I thought this was going to be like The Birth of a Nation, Singing in the Rain, The Wizard of OZ. Rebel Without A Cause, The Battleship Potemkin.

I just find I can't watch movies all than the 60's for the most part. The acting and everything back then was unhinged.

The Pact - October 3, 2025, 11:01 am

(Oct 3, 2025 10:30 AM)Tyler™ Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I just find I can't watch movies all than the 60's for the most part. The acting and everything back then was unhinged.

You need to reword that as you made a typo that makes it incomprehensible.

Jamika - October 3, 2025, 4:22 pm

It was a movie called Independence Day. I watched it on a videotape at my father's place when I was a kid... it was truly an amazing film.

oRequiem - October 3, 2025, 5:28 pm

(Oct 3, 2025 04:22 PM)Jamika Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) It was a movie called Independence Day. I watched it on a videotape at my father's place when I was a kid... it was truly an amazing film.

I have probably seen that one as well, it sounds familiar.

Jamika - October 3, 2025, 11:12 pm

(Oct 3, 2025 05:28 PM)oRequiem Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I have probably seen that one as well, it sounds familiar.

Yes , it was iconic, i watched the tape more than once too