Thread: Whats the most cursed piece of software or website youve ever seen?

P??sonl?af - October 3, 2025, 2:25 pm

Hey hey,

Most of us have been around for some time now. What is the wierdest or most cursed thing you have seen?

Think bigger than 2girls1cup or pain olympics. Something truely cursed!

I remember when I was younger there was this website called Rotten.com where people posted pictures of deadly car accidents and all sorts of gore pictures.

I don't think stuff like that will ever be 100% closed. Isn't it such a thing as when you close 1, 3 more pop up?

That was the same 'problem' they had with pirate bay. It was so easy and once they made the website open source they were popping up everywhere.

Oh man, back before youtube was known and blocked buy schools, we used to go to the library and wait for someone to get up. If they were returning to the computer we would pull up youtube with sound and wait for the librarian or the person to come back. Kinda gay but pretty damn funny.

HAHAHA Hackforums blocks it!

It changed it to youtube, but that not what im talking about. It was a gay sex pop up site.

Those are pretty soft tbh. You have far worse things around.

Fun fact. 2girls1cup is actually fake & was an 'art' project of a grad student.

I remember doing something similar. I suppose we all had that idea when it was too easy to log in on the PC of the person in front of us in school. Also kinda makes sense HF blocks porn sites.

I really truly try to avoid that stuff. Don't understand why people want to see that stuff.

Laughing Man - October 4, 2025, 7:45 am

I don't know TBH, I feel like we've had so many choices.

Deany - October 4, 2025, 8:53 am

The randonautica app is cursed sharn - October 26, 2025, 11:11 am

Internet Explorer was a nightmare for developers and users alike.
Every website seemed broken on it.
