

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: North Korean Hackers Use New AkdoorTea Backdoor to Target Global Crypto Developers

Stanley - October 4, 2025, 3:35 am

North Korean Hackers Use New AkdoorTea Backdoor to Target Global Crypto Developers

The North Korea-linked threat actors associated with the Contagious Interview campaign have been attributed to a previously undocumented backdoor called AkdoorTea, along with tools like TsunamiKit and Tropicdoor.

Slovak cybersecurity firm ESET, which is tracking the activity under the name DeceptiveDevelopment, said the campaign targets software developers across all operating systems, Windows,

<https://thehackernews.com/2025/09/north-korean-hackers-use-new-akdoortea.html>

Vectura - October 4, 2025, 3:38 am

Scary stuff. Targeting crypto developers like this shows how far these groups are willing to go.

Fish - October 4, 2025, 3:41 am

Wow! New backdoors are being found every day. Very interesting to see what people can think of

DAL-SHA - October 7, 2025, 8:33 am

Sounds like they want a sip of your code—and your coins. Developers, watch out or you'll get brewed into their next cyber concoction. ???