Call Of Duty: Black Ops 7 Beta - Best Weapon Loadouts

Call of Duty: Black Ops 7 arrives on November 14, but you can already go hands-on with the game during the BO7 beta. There are a handful of weapons and attachments to unlock, and the early access beta allows for progression up to level 20. This guide will focus on recommending low-level builds available to create during the beta, and we'll update with a more in-depth loadout guide following the full launch of Black Ops 7. This year's new Gunsmith addition is the weapon build code feature. Weapon build codes are unique to each weapon and a specific set of attachments, making it easy to share and receive custom weapon builds. However, weapon build codes are not available in the beta, but will launch with the full release of Black Ops 7 on November 14. Treyarch developers also shared their own personal loadouts for Black Ops 7. Make sure to check out all the weapons and loadout equipment available at launch. We also highlight all the multiplayer maps for Black Ops 7's release. If you're on console, we have a recommended settings guide for getting the most out of Black Ops 7's multiplayer and other modes.

M8A1 The M8A1 marksman rifle is one of the most popular weapons in the Black Ops 7 beta. This is a powerful and very accurate gun for medium- to long-range combat. The recommended attachments will improve accuracy, boost your ammo count, and reduce recoil. Recommended M8A1 attachments: Optic: Lethal Tools ELO Muzzle: Redwell 5.56 Compensator Underbarrel: Ironhold Angled Grip Magazine: Sentinel Extended Mag Rear Grip: Instinct Grip

M15 Mod 0 The M15 Mod 0 is an easy-to-handle assault rifle perfect for when you're just getting started. The recommended attachments will make this even easier to use by reducing the gun's recoil, improving the damage range, and more. Recommended M15 Mod 0 attachments: Optic: LTI Mini Muzzle: Redwell 5.56 Compensator Barrel: 18" Bowen Watchtower Barr Magazine: Mayday Extended Mag Rear Grip: Contour Grip

MXR-17 The MXR-17 is another strong assault rifle contender in the Black Ops 7 beta. The recommended attachments will keep you off the minimap when firing, increase the aim-down-sight speed, and help you control the gun's recoil. Recommended MXR-17 attachments: Optic: Lethal Tools ELO Muzzle: Greaves TI-762 Barrel: 15" Wraith Barrel Underbarrel: Sentry Pro Handstop Magazine: Vault Extended Mag Dravec 45 The Dravec 45 submachine gun is one of the best close-range weapons in Black Ops 7. The Dravec 45 is fairly easy to use, and the recommended attachments will help improve the bullet velocity, boost your ammo count, and reduce recoil. For the muzzle, you'll want to use the Hawker Stabilizer MK.II until you unlock the Monolithic Suppressor. Recommended Dravec 45 attachments: Muzzle: Hawker Stabilizer MK.II / Monolithic Suppressor. Barrel: 18" Jetstream Barrel Magazine: Gator Extended Mag Rear Grip: Quickarm Grip Fire Mod: Accelerated Recoil System

Ryden 45K The Ryden 45K submachine gun is another strong choice for close-range fights. The recommended attachments will help reduce the recoil, improve the aim-down-sight speed, increase the weapon's sprint-to-fire speed, and boost the ammo count. Recommended Ryden 45K attachments: Muzzle: Bowen .45 Suppressor Barrel: 9" Basilisk Barrel Magazine: Torch 40 Round Mag Rear Grip: Lennox Grip Stock: Ventral Stock

VS Recon The VS Recon sniper rifle is inspired by the popular DSR-50 from Black Ops 2. This is a powerful, bolt-action sniper, and the recommended attachments will keep you off the mini-map when firing, increase damage range, boost the ammo count, and improve the movement speed. Recommended VS Recon attachments: Muzzle: Greaves A-762 Barrel: 24.9" Domain Barrel Stock Pad: Contra Light Pad Magazine: Wyvern Extend-Z Mag Rear Grip: R-2 Laufen Grip

M10 Breacher The M10 Breacher is already becoming a menace in the beta with one-shot kills at a fairly decent range. This is a "pump-action charge" shotgun, and you can hold the trigger to improve hip and ADS spread for a tighter pellet spray. The recommended attachments will further improve the damage range, boost the ammo, provide recoil control, and increase hipfire accuracy. Recommended M10 Breacher attachments: Muzzle: Redwell Agency Suppressor Barrel: 17.4" Redwell-5k Barrel Underbarrel: Zero Shift Handstop Stock: No Stock Laser: 5MW Lockstep Laser

I can't say I am enjoying the Beta as much as I wanted.

It just feels like Black Ops 6 but with different maps.

Nice guide. The M8A1 and Dravec 45 look like solid picks to start with in the beta — definitely trying those first.

Not going to play BO7. I got bored with BO6 in less than a month.

I have just seen a little preview of the zombies map which people have found a few funny glitches with and I cant lie as someone who loves game level design they have done a great job but I cant lie all the newer Call of Duty games I am still not interested.

Looks like a cool game from what I have seen. But I have 0 interest in COD now days.

I will admit, I'm a sucker for these loadout tutorials. I used to try to make my own perfect gun, I sucked at it.

This brings back memories of when i'd play blackops in the old days. I want to get back into it soon

Lefty - October 6, 2025, 6:54 am

Oh my. I can't wait to try this out. I am hoping it isn't utter crap. Fingers crossed but why Beta have so much negative feedbacks ?? this is what Beta's are supposed to be ??

THIS IS EXCITING NEWS!!! i love CoD??

B3A - October 6, 2025, 11:42 pm

The beta's looking good so far. The M8A1 hits hard and the Dravec is great for facetoface .

Can't wait is a big thing to say but im at least curious

Oh_Well - October 9, 2025, 5:07 am

Interesting read! I'll keep that in mind

Nate - October 9, 2025, 10:53 pm

Ive been rocking withe the drac45

Man I can't believe how many Call of Duty's I haven't played since I stopped actively gaming. Doubt it would hit as good as when I was younger too :(

I want a new story, interface, and a reset on the try-hards online

I want a new story, interface, and a reset on the try-hards online I feel that. Idk if it's just because I'm older or what, but the franchise does not give me enjoyment anymore.
