Oldschool Runescape baby!

I don't know what it is, been playing it since Middle School, and it's got me hooked. Watching them add content to the old style is amazing.

I started playing card games . We started with WAR and ended with POKER, only playing hands, no betting. The best card games were UNO and CRAZY EIGHTS. We played these so often we made funny rules, house rules which now I do not remember.

RS3 should have never been created, it changed the entire behavior of the original game, in an attempt to win over WOW players.

OSRS has always been apart of my life. Lately I've been playing Counter Strike though.

I'm already top 30k but that's kinda normal for someone who's put 26 years into this franchise.

I am still playing Mario because it never stops being fun.

It is timeless.

peldon - October 4, 2025, 11:26 am

Card games

Red alert

Still play also igi , for nostalgia only

Fish - October 5, 2025, 1:39 am

Unfortunately none, but I have been thinking about buying a switch lately - play some mario kart with friends when they come over

In?sane? - October 5, 2025, 3:22 am

Haha OSRS here for me too, a habit that never ever died out.

leste - October 5, 2025, 7:02 am project zomboid and mount and blade warband

Charlie Sheen - October 6, 2025, 1:32 am

RuneScape.

Everything else is pretty much gone. Halo 2 every now and then.

I still play this very old city-building game to relax and de-stress sometimes. It's an old impressions city-builder called, Caesar 3. I play with the Augustus mod which breathes new life into this old game.
