Thread: Do You Think Humans Will Ever Colonize Another Planet?

I don't think humans will ever colonize another planet.
In my view, humanity will destroy itself before reaching that stage.
What about you — do you think we'll ever become interplanetary?

Battles for religion, power and money will catch up to people someday(it already did lol). As Tears for Fears wrote, "nothing ever lasts forever" and by that time I don't think people will make such big step.???

I believe we will - in our lifetime. And it's not about a romantic view of human kind and its survival.

They need resources from other planets and they will find a way to go get them (even themselves)

My guess is no.
Not because it's impossible, but because by the time we have the technology to do it, we'll have the technology to build even better colonies in space, or on/inside small asteroids, than we could ever build on a planet.

Sure , and will start probably by mars

CryptoMancer - October 5, 2025, 12:09 pm

Humans always survived in difficult times if we don't completely destroy ourselves it's possible.

You're assuming that earth is an actual planet, and that this isn't some giant simulation.

Charlie Sheen - October 5, 2025, 10:27 pm

Long time from now, it's possible.

RangoWorld - October 10, 2025, 1:24 am

I genuinely think if Elon Musk stays alive for the next 25 years. We will have a colony on Mars.

Tears for Fears also wrote "Everybody Wants to Rule the World", which is quite true. So, based on the lyrics of their songs, it suggests that humans may succeed in conquering another planet, such as Mars, but not in our lifetime.

I love how you inserted Tears for Fears into this, so I could do it too. You are sooo funny. ?

Yeah every time I think about politics or humans I think about Tears for Fears. Didn't think that there were people who would be in the same mindset as me though lmao?

They'll start digging holes there soon xD I don't know if you've read about the underground base diablospartan - October 10, 2025, 7:59 am

Well if a world war 3 start the humanity will be almost destroyed so yea .Humanity will destroy herself first before colonizing another planet

Nuclear weapons now a defence weapon more than attacking one plops - October 10, 2025, 11:11 am

If we don't then our bot/ai will. I do think it is our destiny though.

Aeowulf - October 10, 2025, 12:04 pm

It definitely could happen, but not in our lifetime.

itcorp - October 10, 2025, 5:16 pm

I think it's possible that both outcomes could happen. Humanity has the intelligence and technology to reach other planets, but we also have a history of self destruction and short term thinking.

sharn - October 11, 2025, 11:18 am

I believe humans will go to Mars first, but life there will not be comfortable.
It will test our limits in every way.
